STATE PRISON INVESTIGATION STARTS MONDAY

Records At Joliet To Be Inspected By Commission

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—For the fourth time in twenty years, Joliet prison officials prepared tonight to throw open their gates and records to public investigation.

Two inquiries prompted by the sensational cellulose bathroom slaying Jan. 25 of "thrill killer" Richard Loebe, set under way here next week.

A commission of distinguished citizens and sociologists designated by Gov. Henry Horner, will start its session Monday, probably with a questioning of convict James Day, who admitted slaying Loebe to death. Day charged he acted to avoid becoming a victim of persecution in the prison.

Prosecutor William McCabe of Will County on Tuesday will bring the evidence in the slaying before the grand jury and request that Day be indicted for murder.

To the various charges against the administration of the state's penal institutions made following the Loebe slaying, was added this week an assertion by prison criminologist John Larson that "there had been progressive deterioration of policies and management" in state penal institutions in recent years. His charge was made after his resignation was announced. It was demanded, prison officials said, because he had given advice to Day as to how he might obtain an attorney.

While state and prison authorities looked to the investigations for value data on conditions of convicts, officials here recalled that the previous probes were occasioned by crimes as sensational as the death of one of Bobby Frank's slayers last month.

They included:

The murder of the wife of then Warden Edmund M. Allen, by "Chicken Joe" Campbell, a Negro in 1915.

The riot of old prison inmates in 1917 in which A. L. Bowen, then warden, had now state director of public welfare, was saved from death by a convict's aid.

The fatal slaying of Deputy Warden Peter M. Klein by seven convicts in 1928. Nathan Leopold, Loebe's partner in the Frank's crime, was questioned at the time.

JUDGMENT DAY NEAR

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—Harold R. Boston, who predicted the world would come to an end last month, said today "the almighty has seen fit to grant an extension of time so that those who are not right with God can get that way."

Varney, minister of a small congregation which meets at his home, declared there was no mistake in his calculations regarding the judgment day and said he was "the happiest man in Toronto."

"My calculation was based on Bible passages," he said, "every day now is a day of grace and I expect the judgment day to start any hour."

Soil Conservation-Subsidy Bill Carrying $500,000,000 Appropriation Passes Senate

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Plowing under bi-partisan opposition by an almost three to one margin, administration forces today won Senate passage of the $500,000,000 soil conservation-subsidy bill of crop control.

The bill now goes to the House. The Senate vote, climaxing eleven days of debate during which the measure's constitutionality was challenged and defended, was 56 to 20.

Forty-nine Democrats, five Republicans, the Farmer-Laborite, Bennett, and the Progressive, LaFollette, voted for the bill. Nine Democrats and 11 Republicans opposed it.

Just before the last roll call, a motion by Senator McNary, the Republican leader, to send the bill back to committee with instructions to report out a new proposal in three weeks, was rejected 34 to 21.

McNary contended the bill was "unworkable and unconstitutional." He predicted after the Senate vote for the day that some state would challenge it in the courts.

Supporters argued it was constitutional under the Supreme Court's interpretation of Congress' appropriating authority in its decision killing the A.A. which the soil bill is intended to replace.

The bill, introduced by Senator Smith (D-S.C.) as a substitute for a somewhat similar measure by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) would authorize expenditure of half a billion dollars in federal subsidies to farmers based on their average of crop land, soil-improving and erosion-preventing crops, changes in farming practices, and a percentage of normal production entering domestic channels.

After two years, permanent state aid plans with the same objective would become operative in any state whose legislature approved a formula prepared by the secretary of agriculture. States could join the permanent system, however, at any time during operation of the temporary plan. No aid would be given after Jan. 1, 1938, in any state whose legislature had not adopted a plan.

9 Public Enemies Are Erased From Roster By Death

Jack McGurn Is Latest Victim Of Gangster Guns In Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—From the original "Public Enemy" roster of 28 names, Jack McGurn was the ninth to be erased by death.

By gang or from natural causes, Jack Zuta, Joe Aiello, Frank McErlane, George (Red) Barker, William (Three Fingers) Jack White, Joseph (Pepe) Genaro, Frank Rio and Myles O'Donnell previously had died.

At Capone, No. 1 on the list, is still serving a federal prison sentence at Alcatraz near San Francisco for income tax evasion. He was arrested in 1935, while in Chicago, and is serving time in Maryland; James (Big Sam) Sammons in Indiana and others are "at large"—several after completing prison terms on income tax charges. Ralph (Bottles) Capone, Al's brother, is among the latter group.

McGurn's slaying was the seventh described to go down here since last November's second day of the "Public Enemy" list.

On Nov. 14, Frank Stypulowski, a parolee convict, was shot to death and the following day Joseph Stadio and Angelo Kleronowski met a similar fate. Police blamed all three on a row among members of a Chicago-Milwaukee mob of minor bootleggers.

On Nov. 14, Vincent Capone, a contractor, was found dead after what was police termed a "gangland" ride. That same day Sam Siskin was slain near his home.

Then one Dec. 18, Joseph (Pepe) Genaro, old time Capone ally and one-time "Public Enemy" was assassinated. Nine days later State Representative Albert Prignano was slain near his home.

Police theorized their might be some connecting link between the Milwaukee-Chicago gang slayings and McGurn's; they also suspected it possibly might be a retaliation for Prignano's death.

But they were able to glean no substantiation from McGurn's family or associates.

Escaping Gas Has Been Controlled

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—With no new case of illness reported in the past 72 hours, Mayor George Remond said tonight that escaping from leaking mains here had been definitely controlled.

Two persons were killed and 41 others made ill since Feb. 3 by the fumes which seeped into homes when normal escape into the open air was prevented by the freezing of the ground to an extraordinary depth by the prolonged cold weather.

Most of the leaks were minor and with normal weather conditions would have caused no concern, gas company officials said. Workmen, however, located a major break and "equipped with gas masks, dug into the hard ground to make repairs."

Various precautionary measures were taken, including the addition of a pungent ingredient to the normally odorless mixed artificial-natural gas used in Belleville to make leaks easily detectable.

Hammer Attack May Result In Four Arrests

Danville, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—Chief of Police Richard Johnson said tonight he was considering the arrest of four more persons in connection with the hammer attack on Everett Bates, assistant high school principal, yesterday.

Johnson said at least that many persons two of them school chums knew of the alleged plan of Donald Cunningham, 16 year old sophomore, to beat Bates in retaliation for reprimands because of tardiness, but they failed to warn either Bates or the police.

Albert Hall, a gasoline station owner, and Tony McGee were arrested today and charged with planning an escape for Cunningham. Halls, alleged to have advised the youth to flee after he learned of the beating, was later released under $3,000 bail.

McGee was accused of offering similar advice by supplying Cunningham with a pair of overalls and a grimy hat.

As the pair was taken into custody, Cunningham waited hearing on a charge of assault with intent to kill before Police Magistrate J. W. Bracewell. He was held in $10,000 bond to await grand jury action.

Johnson said tonight Bates' condition was serious. He said he did not yet have a report from Dr. Vernon C. Hohn, an Indianapolis brain surgeon, who arrived today to attempt to save the educator's life.

The chief stated Cunningham had confessed the attack and had also admitted planning to kill Russell Duffin, principal of the high school, and Don Scholcraft, another assistant principal.

Police were investigating stories that Cunningham confided his plans for revenge to several persons and permitted girl friends to feel the pistol and razor he was carrying in his pockets. The pistol was found today in Stony Creek.

Cunningham was accused of walking up behind Bates as he sat at his desk in the high school building, hammering him with the head and then fleeing. He was arrested several hours later.

Judge Casper Platt Is Recommended To Court Of Appeals

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Representative James A. Meeks, Danville, Ill., Democrat, announced today he had recommended Circuit Judge Casper Platt, of Danville, for appointment to the vacancy of the United States Court of Appeals created by the death of Judge Fitzhugh of Bloomington, Ill.

The representative said Judge Platt had the endorsement of "many influential persons" from Illinois.

Meeks was one of four Illinois Democratic representatives who did not sign the endorsement for the appointment of Representative J. Leroy Acers, Quincy Democrat, for a federal bench appointment.

Sixteen of the 200 Illinois Democrats united in urging Acers' appointment to the district bench at Springfield, predicting their endorsement on the assumption that one of the two district judges—J. Earl Major of Hillsboro or Charles Briggie of Springfield—would be elevated to the chief court of appeals of the United States.

When the Acers endorsement was made public it was stated Meeks did not sign it as there was a candidate for the circuit court of appeals from his district.

Talmadge Replies To Congressman

Atlanta, Feb. 15.—(P)—Replying to the statement of Congressman M. C. Tarr, of Georgia, that he had "outraged his nest" by his speech on Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Governor Talmadge said today he joined "hands with the immortal Henry Grady" that the "war between the states was dead."

Talmadge's signed statement quoted Grady, a noted southern journalist and orator, in a speech to the New England club at New York City, December 21, 1886, as saying in part: "Great types, like valuable plants, are slow to flower and fruit. But from the union of these colonists, Puritan and Cavaliers, from the straightening of their purposes and the crossing of their blood, slow perfecting through a century, came he who stands as the first typical American, the first who comprehended within himself all the strength and gentleness, all the majesty and grace of this republic—Abraham Lincoln."

The governor said "congressman Tarr and all the new deal daily papers in the south can keep on fighting the war between the states if they wish. Grady said the war is dead. I join hands with him."

Claim Employes Discharged For Playing Politics

F. Lyden Smith And Daniel Sullivan Express Their Views

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—Two leaders in the "Public Enemy" campaign for recommitment today issued explanations of numerous discharges of state employes since the Kelly-Nash faction of Democrats refused to support the governor for reelection.

Regarding the recent resignation of Robert J. Dunham, state WPA director, from the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, F. Lyden Smith, Governor Horner's campaign manager, said:

"There is only one explanation for Dunham's removal. Governor Horner demanded his resignation because Dunham tried to play politics with relief."

Smith issued the statement after he said he had talked by telephone with the governor, who is in Florida recovering from a recent illness.

"We hear wails of anguish coming from 'Boss' Kelly's (Mayor Edward J. Kelly's) yes-men because some of their supporters have been separated from their jobs," declared Daniel Sullivan, administrative auditor and another campaign leader.

"Those who have lost their jobs were using them for political purposes. At the same time that they were supposed to be working for the state, they were using time that belonged to the state to oppose the head of the state administration, Governor Horner, to whom they owe their appointments."

Foster Relatives Of Elva Davidson Lost Court Fight

Carthage, N. C., Feb. 15.—(P)—Foster relatives of Mrs. Elva Davidson lost their fight to set aside her will in Moore county, superior court today, but gave notice of an appeal to the state supreme court.

J. M. Broughton, of counsel for the objectors, filed the appeal notice immediately after the farmer-jury brought in its verdict upholding the contested last testament, which bequeathed the major part of the Stetler heirs' half-million dollar estate to her husband, H. Bradley Davidson, Jr.

Court attaches said the supreme court, under ordinary routine, likely would not hear arguments on the appeal before next November.

In contrast to the crowds which were drawn during the trial by testimony concerning Mrs. Davidson's mysterious death from carbon monoxide poisoning less than 80 days after her marriage, only a dozen or so spectators were in the court room when the jury reported the verdict.

Davidson, 40-year-old Washington and Pinehurst sportsman, said he planned to leave immediately for New York where he had formed a business connection. He did not disclose the nature.

POLITICIANS IN ILLINOIS PLAN FIGHTS

Numerous Candidates File Petitions Saturday

By Robert P. Howard.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—Halfway in the filing period and less than two months from the April 14 primary, Illinois Republican and Democratic leaders surveyed prospects for factional fights of increased intensity.

Coincident with the political speeches on Lincoln's birthday, the week's developments were many.

President Roosevelt set a precedent by entering the advisory preferential primary. Two Republican aspirants for the presidency, Col. Frank Knox of Chicago and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, also entered the primary and will seek the advisory statewide vote as well as the support of district delegates to the national convention.

The number of Republicans who have filed for state-wide offices was increased to seventeen, with at least a score more expected to enter before the deadline at midnight on February 24.

There was a full in the bitter Democratic campaign for the governorship. Governor Horner went to Florida for a brief vacation. Candidates on the Kelly-Nash-Bundesen ticket are preparing for the start of their downstate stump tour in early March.

Word was received that William E. Hull, former Peoria congressman, will file as a Republican candidate for the Senate against former Senator Otis P. Glenn and Oscar Nelson, former auditor and treasurer.

General John V. Glinn, GOP member on the Civil Service Commission, was the fifth to file for Republican lieutenant governor in the large field contesting for the places on the star ticket.

There were reports of but no apparent progress in Republican efforts to get more withdrawals among the gubernatorial candidates.

Former Governor Len Small brought to three the number of gubernatorial aspirants who have filed nomination petitions, previous entries having been made by C. Jayland Brooks of Chicago and Oscar E. Carstroom of Alton. The only withdrawal has been by Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, who switched from governor to auditor with a plea for Republican unity.

Norman L. Jones of Carrollton, Democratic Supreme Court justice, was one of the prominent political figures who filed as a candidate for delegate to the national conventions.

Airplanes and Dynamite Used to Bring Food and Fuel to Storm Victims

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—Airplanes and dynamite were used in bringing food and fuel to prisoners of the snow in the great northwest tonight as zero cold sank deeper into the east.

Frantic pleas for "pretty quick" aid from a dozen towns hurried ski-equipped planes into the air and over mountainous drifts that blocked land rescue crews.

Dynamite blasts broke through snow and ice which turned back the steel teeth of plows.

Four South Dakota communities—Red Oak, Twilight, Stoneville and Fairpoint—were in a crucial plight when the first ski-ship visited them. Another plane was loaded with 800 pounds of food for a second trip.

Snowdrifts were dynamited in southern Minnesota, and food and fuel were hurried into marooned sections by motor and train. Bobsleds carried farm families to Marshall food. Skiers saw their first train in nine days.

Two planes were chartered at Kalamazoo, Mich., to fly medicine and provisions to isolated homes. Fifty-five passengers in a marooned train awaited rescue near Saukville, Wis. Lake View, Ia., was out of touch with the world for the fourth successive day, with 16 at Spokane.

STENCH BOMB UPSETS VIENNA'S OPERA BALL

Vienna, Feb. 15.—(P)—A stench bomb upset Vienna's brilliant opera ball the climax of the social season, tonight.

Extraordinary precautions had been taken to prevent any disturbance marred the affair, which was attended by 5,000 Viennese. Nearly 1,000 police were concentrated within a few square blocks, and another large force of officers was stationed in the sewers under the opera district.

Nevertheless, someone, believed to be an enemy of the government, smuggled the stench bomb into the hall of the opera house. The proceedings were interrupted for a few minutes.

Word was received that William E. Hull, former Peoria congressman, will file as a Republican candidate for the Senate against former Senator Otis P. Glenn and Oscar Nelson, former auditor and treasurer.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Representative James A. Meeks, Danville, Ill., Democrat, announced today he had recommended Circuit Judge Casper Platt, of Danville, for appointment to the vacancy of the United States Court of Appeals created by the death of Judge Fitzhugh of Bloomington, Ill.

The representative said Judge Platt had the endorsement of "many influential persons" from Illinois.

Meeks was one of four Illinois Democratic representatives who did not sign the endorsement for the appointment of Representative J. Leroy Acers, Quincy Democrat, for a federal bench appointment.

Sixteen of the 200 Illinois Democrats united in urging Acers' appointment to the district bench at Springfield, predicting their endorsement on the assumption that one of the two district judges—J. Earl Major of Hillsboro or Charles Briggie of Springfield—would be elevated to the chief court of appeals of the United States.

When the Acers endorsement was made public it was stated Meeks did not sign it as there was a candidate for the circuit court of appeals from his district.

F. D. R. INVITES PRESIDENTS TO PEACE PARLEY

Twenty Governments To Be Represented At Conference

By Stanley P. Richardson.

Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—President Roosevelt tonight "uncovered" a proposal for an extraordinary inter-American conference, encompassing twenty Central and South American governments and aimed "at permanent peace on this western continent."

In almost identical personal letters to the presidents of the various Republics, the chief executive suggested that the parley be held at Buenos Aires, Argentina, at an early date. The case of peace in the new world, he said, is a matter of "vital concern."

"These steps, furthermore," he said, "would advance the cause of world peace, inasmuch as the agreements which might be reached would supplement and reinforce the efforts of the League of Nations and of all other existing or future peace agencies in seeking to prevent war."

A favorable response to Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion was generally conceded. In fact, the staging of such a peace parley was virtually guaranteed in advance through informal soundings by the state department.

The entire procedure, however, was extraordinary. The executive's action in writing a direct letter to the heads of governments rather than moving through customary diplomatic channels, and his assertion that the situation warranted "a personal interchange of views between the presidents of the American republics," stirred some speculation that he himself might attend the projected conference.

This conjecture drew no confirmation from either the White House or state department. The possibility nevertheless remained, in informed quarters it was generally considered certain that Secretary Hull would attend in any event. The secretary of state personally headed the American delegation to the all-American conference at Montevideo in 1933.

Congressman Is Arrested In N. Y. But Is Released

Vito Marcantonio Charged With Speaking At Forbidden Meet

New York, Feb. 15.—(P)—Congressman Vito Marcantonio (R-N.Y.) spent more than three hours in a Manhattan precinct police station today for speaking at a forbidden demonstration, but his release left unanswered the question of who was the most embarrassed—Marcantonio, Mayor LaGuardia, or Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine.

Marcantonio was one of 13 persons arrested as police broke up a meeting of some 10,000 unemployed WPA and ERA workers in Madison Square. All were taken to the precinct station in a patrol wagon.

The meeting had been called by leaders of the group in spite of the refusal of city authorities to grant a parade permit with the explanation that "the slushy conditions of the streets would not permit."

Marcantonio was one of the speakers. As the meeting started there was a mass movement as if to parade, and the police rushed forward. Flats flew and patrol wags honked.

In the police station, however, the question was raised as to whether Marcantonio, a congressman, was not immune from arrest on a misdemeanor charge enroute to or from a session of congress. Marcantonio had arrived in the city from Washington this morning.

The police telephoned Commissioner Valentine and asked him what to do. "Release them all," said the commissioner. "We don't want any martyrs for the sake of publicity."

JACKSONVILLE, ILLINOIS, SUNDAY MORNING, FEBRUARY 16, 1936

FOURTEEN PAGES—THREE CENTS

STATE PRISON INVESTIGATION STARTS MONDAY

Records At Joliet To Be Inspected By Commission

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—For the fourth time in twenty years, Joliet prison officials prepared tonight to throw open their gates and records to public investigators.

Two inquiries prompted by the sensational cellulose bathroom slaying Jan. 28 of "thrill killer" Richard Loeb, set under way here next week.

A commission of distinguished citizens and sociologists designated by Gov. Henry Horner, will start its session Monday, probably with a questioning of convict James Day, who admitted slaying Loeb to death. Day charged he acted to avoid becoming a victim of perversion in the prison.

Prosecutor William McCabe of Will County on Tuesday will bring the evidence in the slaying before the grand jury and request that Day be indicted for murder.

To the various charges against the administration of the state's penal institutions made following the Loeb slaying, was added this week an assertion by prison criminologist John Larson that "there had been progressive deterioration of policies and management" in state penal institutions in recent years. His charge was made after his resignation was announced. It was demanded, prison officials said, because he had given advice to Day as to how he might obtain an attorney.

While state and prison authorities looked to the investigations for value data on conditions of convicts, officials here recalled that the previous probes were occasioned by crimes as sensational as the death of one of Bobby Frank's slayers last month. They included:

The murder of the wife of then Governor Edmund M. Allen, by "Chick" Joe Campbell, a Negro, in 1915.

The riot of 2000 prison inmates in 1917 in which A. L. Bowen, then Governor but now state director of public welfare, was saved from death by a convict's aid.

The fatal stabbing of Deputy Warden Peter M. Klein by seven convicts in 1928. Nathan Leopold, Loeb's partner in the Frank's crime, was questioned at the time.

"In the last analysis, it will be in the interest of world trade and world welfare to correct this discrepancy," Der Fuehrer asserted.

Hitler asserted an era of independence for Germany from foreign motor fuels and foreign rubber was in prospect.

Soil Conservation-Subsidy Bill Carrying $500,000,000 Appropriation Passes Senate

By D. Harold Oliver, Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Plowing under bi-partisan opposition by an almost three to one margin, administration forces today won Senate passage of the $500,000,000 soil conservation-subsidy bill of crop control.

The bill now goes to the House. The Senate vote, climaxing eleven days of debate during which the measure's constitutionality was challenged and defended, was 56 to 20.

Forty-nine Democrats, five Republicans, the Farmer-Laborite, Benson, and the Progressive, LaFollette, voted for the bill. Nine Democrats and 11 Republicans opposed it.

Just before the last roll call, a motion by Senator McNary, the Republican leader, to send the bill back to committee with instructions to report out a new proposal in three weeks, was rejected 54 to 21.

McNary contended the bill was "unworkable and unconstitutional." He predicted after the Senate quit for the day that some state would challenge it in the courts.

Supporters argued it was constitutional under the Supreme Court's interpretation of Congress' appropriation authority in its decision killing the AAA which the soil bill is intended to replace.

The bill, introduced by Senator Smith (D-S.C.) as a substitute for a somewhat similar measure by Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) would authorize expenditure of half a billion dollars in federal subsidies to farmers based on their average of crop land, soil-improving and erosion-preventing chops, changes in farming practices, and a percentage of normal production entering domestic channels.

After two years, permanent state-aid plans with the same objective would become operative in any state whose legislature approved a formula prepared by the secretary of agriculture. States could join the permanent system, however, at any time during operation of the temporary plan. No aid would be given after Jan. 1, 1938, in any state whose legislature had not adopted a plan.

9 Public Enemies Are Erased From Roster By Death

Jack McGurn Is Latest Victim Of Gangster Guns In Chicago

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—From the original "Public enemy" roster of 28 names, Jack McGurn's was the ninth to be erased by death.

By gang or from natural causes: Jack Zuta, Joe Aiello, Frank McErlane, George (Red) Barker, William (Three Fingers) Jack White, Joseph (Pepe) Genaro, Frank Rio and Miles O'Donnell previous had died.

Al Capone, No. 1 on the list, is still serving a federal prison sentence at Alcatraz near San Francisco for income tax evasion.

While Niemoth is serving, time in Maryland, James (Pur) Sammons in Indiana and the others are "at large"—several after completing prison terms on income tax charges. Ralph (Bottle) Capone, Al's brother, is among the latter group.

McGurn's slaying was the seventh ascribed to gangland here since last November, records disclosed.

On Nov. 14, Frank Stypulowski, a paroled convict, was shot to death and the following day Joseph Stalfido and Angelo Kleronomas met a similar fate. Police blamed all three on a row among members of a Chicago-Milwaukee mob of minor bootleggers.

On Nov. 14, Vincent Cecare, a contractor, was found dead after what was police termed a "gangland ride." That same day Sam Iscandello was slain.

Then one Dec. 19, Joseph (Pepe) Genaro, old time Capone ally and one-time "Public Enemy," was assassinated. Nine days later, State Representative Albert Prignano was slain near his home.

Police theorized their might be some connecting link between the Milwaukee-Chicago gang slayings and McGurn's; they also suspected it possibly might be a retaliation for Prignano's death.

But they were able to glean no substantiation from McGurn's family or associates.

Escaping Gas Has Been Controlled

Belleville, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—With no new case of illness reported in the past 72 hours, Mayor George Remund said tonight gas escaping from leaking mains here had been definitely controlled.

Two persons were killed and 41 others made ill since Feb. 3 by the fumes which seeped into homes when normal escape into the open air was prevented by the freezing of the ground to an extraordinary depth by the prolonged cold weather.

Most of the leaks were minor and with normal weather conditions would have caused no concern, gas company officials said. Workmen, however, located a major break and, equipped with gas masks, dug into the hard ground to make repairs.

Various precautionary measures were taken, including the addition of a pungent ingredient to the normally odorless mixed artificial-natural gas used in Belleville to make leaks easily detectable.

JUDGMENT DAY NEAR

Toronto, Feb. 15.—(P)—Harold R. Varney, who predicted the world would come to an end last month, said today "the almighty has seen fit to grant an extension of time so that those who are not right with God can get that way."

Varney, minister of a small congregation which meets at his home, denied there was any mistake in his calculations regarding the judgment day and said he was "the happiest man in Toronto."

"My calculation was based on Bible passages," he said, "every day now is a day of grace and I expect the judgment Day to start any hour."

Claim Employees Discharged For Playing Politics

F. Lyden Smith And Daniel Sullivan Express Their Views

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—Two leaders in Governor Henry Horner's campaign for renomination today issued explanations of numerous discharges of state employees since the Kelly-Nash faction of Democrats refused to support the governor for reelection.

Regarding the recent resignation of Robert J. Dunham, state WPA director, from the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, F. Lyden Smith, Governor Horner's campaign manager, said:

"There is only one explanation for Dunham's removal. Governor Horner demanded his resignation because Dunham tried to play politics with relief."

Smith issued the statement after he said he had talked by telephone with the governor, who is in Florida recovering from a recent illness.

"We hear walls of anguish coming from 'Boss' Kelly's (Mayor Edward J. Kelly) yes-men because some of their supporters have been separated from their jobs," declared Daniel Sullivan, administrative auditor and another campaign leader.

"Those who have lost their jobs were using them for political purposes. At the same time that they were supposed to be working for the state, they were using time that belonged to the state to oppose the head of the state administration, Governor Horner, to whom they owe their appointments."

Foster Relatives Of Elva Davidson Lost Court Fight

Were Making Effort To Have Her Will Set Aside; Will Take Appeal

Carthage, N. C., Feb. 15.—(P)—Foster relatives of Mrs. Elva Stables Davidson lost their fight to set aside her will in Moore county superior court today, but gave notice of an appeal to the state supreme court.

J. M. Broughton, of counsel for the objectors, filed the appeal notice immediately after the farmer-jury brought in its verdict upholding the contested last testament, which bequeathed the major part of the Stables' half-million dollar estate to her husband, H. Bradley Davidson, Jr.

Court attaches said the supreme court, under ordinary routine, likely would not hear arguments on the appeal before next November.

In contrast to the crowds which were drawn during the trial by testimony concerning Mrs. Davidson's mysterious death from carbon monoxide poisoning less than 60 days after her marriage, only a dozen or so spectators were in the court room when the jury reported the verdict.

Davidson, 40-year-old Washington and Pinehurst sportsman, said he planned to leave immediately for New York where he had formed a business connection. He did not disclose his nature.

HAMMER ATTACK MAY RESULT IN FOUR ARRESTS

Youth Who Beat School Official Held Under 10,000 Bond

Danville, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—Chief of Police Richard Johnson said tonight he was considering the arrest of four more persons in connection with the hammer attack on Everett Bates, assistant high school principal, yesterday.

Johnson said at least that many persons two of them school chums knew of the alleged plan of Donald Cunningham, 16 year old sophomore, to beat Bates in retaliation for reprimands because of tardiness, but they failed to warn either Bates or the police.

Albert Hall, a gasoline station owner, and Tony McGoley were arrested today and charged with planning an escape for Cunningham. Halls, alleged to have advised the youth to flee after he learned of the beating, was later released under $3,000 bail.

McGoley was accused of offering similar advice by supplying Cunningham with a pair of overalls and a grimy hat.

As the pair was taken into custody, Cunningham waived hearing on a charge of assault with intent to kill before Police Magistrate J. W. Bracewell. He was held in $10,000 bond to await grand jury action.

Johnson said tonight Bates' condition was serious. He said he did not yet have a report from Dr. Vernon C. Hohn, an Indianapolis brain surgeon, who arrived today to attempt to save the educator's life.

The chief stated Cunningham had confessed the attack and had also admitted planning to kill Russell Duffin, principal of the high school, and Don Scholcraft, another assistant principal.

Police were investigating stories that Cunningham confided his plans for revenge to several persons and permitted girl friends to feel the pistol and razor he was carrying in his pockets. The pistol was found today in Stony Creek.

Cunningham was accused of walking up behind Bates as he sat at his desk in the high school building, hammering him with the head and then fleeing. He was arrested several hours later.

Judge Casper Platt Is Recommended To Court Of Appeals

Would Take Place Made Vacant By Death Of Judge Louis FitzHenry

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Representative James A. Meeks, Danville, Ill., Democrat, announced today he had recommended Circuit Judge Casper Platt, of Danville, for appointment to the vacancy of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals created by the death of Judge FitzHenry of Bloomington, Ill.

The representative said Judge Platt had the endorsement of "many influential persons" from Illinois.

Meeks was one of four Illinois Democratic representatives who did not sign the endorsement for the appointment of Representative J. LeRoy Adair, Quincy Democrat, for a federal bench appointment.

Sixteen of the 200 Illinois Democrats united in urging Adair's appointment to the district bench at Springfield, predicating their endorsement on the assumption that one of the two district judges—J. Earl Major of Hillsboro or Charles Briggie of Springfield—would be elevated to the circuit court of appeals.

When the Adair endorsement was made public it was stated Meeks did not sign it as there was a candidate for the circuit court of appeals from his district.

Talmadge Replies To Congressmen

Atlanta, Feb. 15.—(P)—Replying to the statement of Congressman M. C. Tarver, of Georgia, that he had "fouled his nest" by his speech on Abraham Lincoln at Springfield, Ill., Governor Talmadge said today he joined "hands with the immortal Henry Grady" that the "war between the states was dead."

Talmadge's signed statement quoted Grady, a noted southern journalist and orator, in a speech to the New England club at New York City, December 21, 1886, as saying in part:

"Great types, like valuable plants, are slow to flower and fruit. But from the union of these colonists, Puritan and Cavaliers, from the straightening of their purposes and the crossing of their blood, slow perfecting through a century, came he who stands as the first typical American, the first who comprehended within himself all the strength and gentleness, all the majesty and grace of this republic—Abraham Lincoln."

The governor said "congressman Tarver and all the new deal daily papers in the south can keep on fighting the war between the states if they wish. Grady said the war is dead. I join hands with him."

POLITICIANS IN ILLINOIS PLAN FIGHTS

Numerous Candidates File Petitions Saturday

By Robert P. Howard, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 15.—(P)—Half-way in the filing period and less than two months from the April 14 primary, Illinois Republican and Democratic leaders today surveyed prospects for factional fights of increased intensity.

Coincident with the political speeches on Lincoln's birthday, the week's developments were many.

President Roosevelt set a precedent by entering the advisory preferential primary. Two Republican aspirants for the presidency, Col. Frank Knox of Chicago and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, also entered the primary and will seek the advisory statewide vote as well as the support of district delegates to the national convention.

The number of Republicans who have filed for state-wide offices was increased to seventeen, with at least a score more expected to enter before the deadline at midnight on February 24.

There was a lull in the bitter Democratic campaign for the governorship. Governor Horner went to Florida for a brief vacation. Candidates on the Kelly-Nash-Bundesens ticket are preparing for the start of their downstate stump tour in early March.

Word was received that William E. Hull, former Peoria congressman, will file as a Republican candidate for the Senate against former Senator Otis F. Glenn and Oscar Nelson, former auditor and treasurer.

General John V. Glinn, GOP member on the Civil Service Commission, was the fifth to file for Republican lieutenant governor in the large field contesting for the places on the state ticket.

There were reports of but no apparent progress in Republican efforts to get more withdrawals among the gubernatorial candidates.

Former Governor Len Small brought to three the number of gubernatorial aspirants who have filed nomination petitions, previous entries having been made by C. Wayland Brooks of Chicago and Oscar E. Carlstrom of Alton. The only withdrawal has been by Senator Earl B. Searcy of Springfield, who switched from governor to auditor with a plea for Republican unity.

Norman L. Jones of Carrollton, Democratic Supreme Court justice, was one of the prominent political figures who filed as a candidate for delegate to the national conventions.

Believe Russian, Japanese Dispute Will Be Settled

New Clash Along Mongolian Border Reported In Tokyo

By John Lloyd, Associated Press Foreign Staff.

Moscow, Feb. 15.—(P)—Although a new clash along the Mongolian border was reported in Tokyo, Russian government officials expressed confidence that the frontier dispute between Mongolia and Manchukuo—with all its Russian and Japanese implications—would be settled peacefully.

The government announced through an official communique that the Soviet and the Japanese governments had agreed in principle to a mixed commission (including neutrals) to inquire into the year-long series of clashes.

In Tokyo, a foreign office spokesman declared that Japan saw no reason why neutrals should be called into the discussion at all.

An authoritative source said Tamekichi Ota, the Japanese ambassador to Moscow, had communicated to the Soviet foreign office an offer to take part in a mixed commission inquiry. At the same time the Russian government, through G. S. Stomoniokoff, five congress for foreign affairs, announced the Russian government had made a similar offer.

The Soviet government said the Japanese claimed a recent clash in the Grodekovo region, west of Vladivostok, occurred on Manchukuoan soil. The Russian "rejected this version of the Japanese militarists as falsehood," according to a communique.

The government announced that 7,130 Manchukuoan soldiers, with 761 officers, including 8 generals, had been interned in Russia since 1930 after crossing the border with peaceful intent.

LOUIS WATSON DIES

New York, Feb. 15.—(P)—Louis H. Watson, 29, one of the country's leading contract bridge players, died suddenly last night at his home. Watson complained of chest pains while chatting with a friend yesterday afternoon, and was put to bed by a physician. His wife found him dead in bed, apparently the victim of a heart attack.

Airplanes and Dynamite Used to Bring Food and Fuel to Storm Victims

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(P)—Airplanes and dynamite were used in bringing food and fuel to prisoners of the snow in the great northern tonight as zero cold sank deeper into the east.

Frantic pleas for "pretty quick" aid from a dozen towns hurried ski-equipped planes into the air and over mountainous drifts that blocked land rescue crews.

Dynamite blasts broke through snow and ice which turned back the steel teeth of plows.

Four South Dakota communities—Red Owl, Twilight, Stoneville and Fairpoint—were in a critical plight when the first ski-ship visited them. Another plane was loaded with 800 pounds of food for a second trip.

Snowdrifts were dynamited in southern Minnesota, and food and fuel were hurried into marooned sections by motor and train. Bobbeds carried farm families to Marshall for food. Slayton saw its first train in nine days.

Two planes were chartered at Kalamazoo, Mich., to fly medicine and provisions to isolated homes. Fifty-five passengers in a marooned train awaited rescue near Saukville, Wis. Lake View, Ia., was out of touch with the world for the fourth successive day.

STENCH BOMB UPSETS VIENNA'S OPERA BALL

Vienna, Feb. 15.—(P)—A stench bomb upset Vienna's brilliant opera ball, the climax of the social season, tonight.

Extraordinary precautions had been taken to prevent any disturbance marring the affair, which was attended by 5,000 Viennese. Nearly 1,000 police were concentrated within a few square blocks, and another large force of officers was stationed in the sewers under the opera district.

Nevertheless, someone, believed to be an enemy of the government, smuggled the stench bomb into the hall of the opera house. The proceedings were enlivened for a few minutes.

Will Not Film 'Sinclair Lewis' Latest Novel

Novelist Informed Will Hays Fears International Complications

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, said in a statement here today he had been informed that Will Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, had forbidden the filming of his latest novel, "It Can't Happen Here," partially on the contention that it would cause "international complications."

Lewis said he had been informed Hays objected on the ground that "the film industry is opposed to using the motion picture for controversial politics, and that the film will have international complications and may offend Mussolini and Hitler, the leaders of 'Friendly Powers.'"

Sidney Howard, the playwright who prepared the script for the picture reported to him, Lewis said, "that Mr. Hays told the producers that he didn't know which way the next elections might go, and he certainly did not intend to offend the Republicans."

"If Mr. Hays thinks," Lewis declared, "that an anti-Fascist film might be interpreted as anti-Republican that ought certainly to be interesting to a lot of Republicans. x x x

"Democracy is certainly on the defensive when two European dictators, without opening their mouths or knowing anything about the issue, can shut down an American film, costing a loss of $200,000 to the producer. I wrote 'It Can't Happen Here, but I begin to think that it certainly can.'"

Ethiopians Fear Attack From Air

Addis Ababa, Feb. 15.—(P)—Military authorities were understood tonight to have ordered precautions against the possibility of an Italian bombing plane raid on the capital.

The air raid was feared as a retaliation for an Ethiopian victory as reported by a neutral observer in Tishben.

The Observer, Marius Brophill, Irish Red Cross worker, said 20,000 white Italians were bottled up in that battle and had been unable to escape alive.

Daily reports tell of the widening range of Italian bombing raids inside the northern front, lending color to the fear that Addis Ababa might be the next target.

Kansas City, Feb. 15.—(P)—Dwight M. Stewart, 38, was arrested today for carrying a cake of soap.

It was the way he carried it, police said. It was molded into a ball and tied into the toe of a sock—an effective bludgeon. Stewart said he carried it for protection. Authorities planned to charge him with carrying concealed weapons.

F. D. R. INVITES PRESIDENTS TO PEACE PARLEY

Twenty Governments To Be Represented At Conference

By Stanley P. Richardson, Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Feb. 15.—(P)—President Roosevelt tonight uncovered a proposal for an extraordinary inter-American conference, encompassing twenty Central and South American governments and aimed "at permanent peace on this western continent."

In almost identical personal letters to the presidents of the various Republics, the chief executive suggested that the parley be held at Buenos Aires, Argentina, at an early date. "The case of peace in the new world, he said, is a matter of 'vital concern.'"

"These steps, furthermore," he said, "would advance the cause of world peace, inasmuch as the agreements which might be reached would supplement and reinforce the efforts of the League of Nations and of all other existing or future peace agencies in seeking to prevent war."

A favorable response to Mr. Roosevelt's suggestion was generally conceded. In fact, the starting of such a peace parley was virtually guaranteed in advance through informal soundings by the state department.

The entire procedure, however, was extraordinary. The executive's action in writing a direct letter to the heads of governments rather than moving through customary diplomatic channels, and his assertion that the situation warranted "a personal interchange of views between the presidents of the American republics," stirred some speculation that he himself might attend the projected conference.

Congressman Is Arrested In N. Y. But Is Released

Vito Marcantonio Charged With Speaking At Forbidden Meet

New York, Feb. 15.—(P)—Congressman Vito Marcantonio (R-N.Y.) spent more than three hours in a Manhattan precinct police station today for speaking at a forbidden demonstration, but his release left unanswered the question of who was the most embarrassed—Marcantonio, Mayor LaGuardia, or Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine.

Marcantonio was one of 13 persons arrested as police broke up a meeting of some 10,000 unemployed WPA and ERA workers in Madison Square. All were taken to the precinct station in a patrol wagon.

The meeting had been called by leaders of the group in spite of the refusal of city authorities to grant a parade permit, with the explanation that "the slushy conditions of the streets would not permit."

Marcantonio was one of the speakers. As the meeting started there was a mass movement as if to parade, and the police rushed forward. Flats flew and patrol wagons gonged.

In the police station, however, the question was raised as to whether Marcantonio, a congressman, was not immune from arrest on a misdemeanor charge enroute to or from a session of congress. Marcantonio had arrived in the city from Washington this morning.

The police telephoned Commissioner Valentine and asked him what to do. "Release them all," said the commissioner. "We don't want any one martyred for the sake of publicity."

The Unfinished Pyramid

Saturday in the quiet valley of Monte Ne, Ark., there was buried one of the nation's most eccentric characters, William H. "Coin" Harvey, 85. For nearly half a century this man has been prominent in the discussion of American monetary problems. He belonged to the silver school of financial thought, and wrote a handbook setting forth his doctrines.

In his later years Mr. Harvey became convinced that American civilization was doomed. He began erecting on his estate in the valley a pyramid in which he hoped to house relics of the twentieth century world, to preserve them for the instruction of future generations. He heartily disagreed with the monetary policies of the present and thought they would certainly send the country to destruction.

It is true that a wrong monetary policy may bring on the dissolution of a nation. In that Mr. Harvey was right, but his own ideas would hardly do as a substitute for anything now being tried, though the present policy of devaluation and bond inflation is dangerous enough.

The Harvey pyramid remains unfinished, and it is hardly likely to be used as a repository of relics of our present civilization; for there is reason to hope the return of sounder policies of money control will keep the country off the rocks. Harvey was a bimetalist, which signifies a gold and silver standard.

He was a believer in long life and set a century as his own goal. He missed it by fifteen years. One of his earliest books considered the rather abstract question "can man live forever?"

Mysterious Gas

The mysterious elements of death in gas, which have been keeping the people of Belleville jittery are doubtless not new. They exist in small quantities and are not harmful when allowed to escape. But the frozen ground and the necessity of keeping homes shut tight against biting cold have prevented the escape of these elements, and permitted them to accumulate in sufficient quantities to be harmful.

Some years ago a mysterious gas crept through a portion of Belgium in a dense mist, causing some loss of life and much illness. The trouble arose from the fact that the atmosphere was so dense that the gas collected in harmful proportions. The poisonous elements exist in the atmosphere all the time, but conditions for their doing damage are not right.

The Belleville incident simply brings out the truth that man lives always in the presence of death. He never knows when some freak of nature may put an end to his frail life. A king died instantly when he stepped into a room where fresh paint had been spread. Something in the fumes was poison to his system. Life ever hangs by a thread.

When the weather warms and the gas accumulating in the soil of Belleville is allowed to escape normally, there will be no more danger. Meanwhile the people will have to allow some ventilation in their homes, and the gas company is taking measures that will warn them of the presence of the poison elements.

When Spring Comes

The unusual winter weather experienced in this country this year may have some unusual spring consequences. The depth to which the ground is frozen, 26 inches to three feet hereabouts, gives some idea of how deep the mud will be when the frost goes out of the ground. If the break-up comes with heavy rains the condition will be rather serious.

While the amount of snowfall in this immediate area has been negligible, the precipitation farther north has been much greater. There have been heavy snows along the upper reaches of the Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and the heavy ice in these streams will create gorges and hold back the water.

In other words, there are likely to be some rather serious flood conditions. Water has been accumulating in the ice-locked streams. In fact it is reported to be running over the spillway at the Mauvasterre dam, even though the lake is almost completely frozen over. This means that water is running into the lake under the ice in rather large volume.

All that is needed to set in motion the next series of unusual weather events is a genuine thaw. The sooner it comes the quicker the floods and mud will be ended and fields will be ready for spring work.

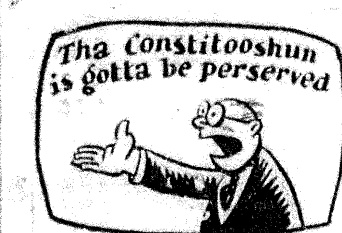

Adventure Without Gore

Readers of the Journal recently made the acquaintance of a new adventure strip—"Myra North, Special Nurse." And it occurs to us that they may have found a refreshing new note in this treatment of the fascinating, exciting business of crime detection.

Too often an account of that business is just crammed full of cadavers and violence, pistols and blackjacks. The youngsters who make up the most enthusiastic public for that kind of entertainment are not only given fare that is altogether too strong for their tender years; they actually get a lopsided picture of life itself, viewing it from the angle of unadulterated melodrama in which every issue is resolved by violence.

"Myra North" is something different. Here we have all the excitement of crime detection without the brutality, the bloodshed, and the shocks. The sketches are not littered with corpses, machine guns, and bearded thugs. There is enough action to hold anyone's interest, but nothing that the most fastidious could find unwholesome.

SPRINGFIELD CHIEF FREES CHAPIN BOY WHO ATTACKED HIM

Springfield, Feb. 15.—James Rankin, 18-year-old Chapin youth, arrested Thursday night after an altercation with Chief of Police C. F. Nueces, was released from custody Friday at the request of Chief Nueces.

Rankin started swinging his fists in front of the Elks' club and when Chief Nueces approached him, the youth let go with several blows that landed squarely in Chief Nueces' face. Other policemen pulled Rankin off Chief Nueces and the assailant was taken to police headquarters and booked on a disorderly charge.

Rankin participated in the Golden Gloves boxing tournament at Springfield Thursday night. He lost a close three round decision to a Springfield opponent.

TVA Greatest Effort Ever Made to Improve Living Conditions . . . Building Four Great Dams . . . Power Supplied to 21 Counties . . . Flood Control, Navigation, Made Possible . . . Farm, Home Electrification.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Whether the U. S. Supreme court hands down a favorable or an unfavorable decision on the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley authority case, the government's experiment in the valley, on which about $110,000,000 will have been spent by midsummer, will go down in history as the most extensive effort to improve living conditions ever seen in the world.

Despite the reams of stories and pictures showered out of the TVA's publicity offices, despite magazine and newspaper stories by the gross, many people do not yet realize how vast is this undertaking.

Its activities spread over 40,000 square miles of the Tennessee Valley, in which 2,000,000 people live. All this area, all these people are affected. About 15,000 are now at work on its various projects.

Here are the main things TVA is doing:

1—It is building four great dams, Norris Dam, near Knoxville, Tenn., will be finished this summer. Wheeler Dam has been under way for more than two years. Pickwick Landing Dam is one year along. A dam at Guntersville, Ala., is just being begun.

With Wilson Dam, built during the World War to make nitrogen which the government needed for explosives, these barriers are the forerunners of a series of dams which will control the whole river.

Low "Yardstick" Rate
2—With surplus power from Wilson Dam, the TVA is already providing the power needed to build Norris Dam, and is supplying power to small towns and rural areas in 21 counties of Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee. Soon it will be serving nearly 15,000 consumers in 36 counties.

This government power is served to homes at a rate definitely lower than that which most private power companies throughout the country charge. It is hoped this rate will serve as a "yardstick" to show people what they ought to pay, and also open up many farms and rural areas to electric power.

3—When the huge reservoir begins to fill behind Norris Dam, a start will be made in controlling disastrous floods which sweep the Tennessee Valley every spring and fall. Chattanooga alone suffers almost a half million dollars in flood damages every spring.

4—Navigation of the Tennessee river becomes a definite prospect for the future. The federal government has spent millions in the past in canals and channels, but never got much navigation. Now, with locks to allow boats to pass the new dams, and regulation of water flow in dry seasons, navigation should extend far up the Tennessee, providing cheap transport.

Cheap Fertilizers
5—Two huge plants were built at Wilson Dam during the war to make nitrogen. One is obsolete and unused. The other is being turned to experiments in creating and making phosphate fertilizers, judged more necessary than the nitrates.

New super-phosphates have been produced and tried. The new fertilizers are being distributed cheaply to farmers who will agree to try them under controlled conditions.

The unused parts of the war-time nitrate plants are being maintained in "stand-by" condition.

6—One of the greatest surveys of land use ever undertaken has been made, and as a result, the best use of all land in the basin is known. Farmers have been persuaded to terrace their lands against erosion, plant grass and trees. More than 3,000,000 trees already have been planted.

Electrifying Farms, Homes

7—To encourage greater use of electricity on farms and in homes, the Electric Home and Farm Authority was begun. It finances sales of electrical equipment to people living in the TVA area, or to others served by companies whose rates meet TVA approval.

8—Towns built at Norris and Wheeler Dams for the workmen on the projects will be permanent, and should eventually pave the way to establishment of rural communities where small factories served with cheap power may be started, and employees may get the best features of city and rural life.

Expect Work to Go On

19—Valuable experiments have been made in ceramics, the electrical firing of native kaolin clays to make fine white dishes, now almost all imported. Co-operatives have been fostered among the valley residents, and forward steps taken in labor organization and relationships.

Three years after TVA was established, it already has deeply affected the life of a vast region. Should the supreme court halt any or all phases of its work, plans already are under way to find other ways of accomplishing it through co-operation with states or even with private companies. Red Cross Sponsors Farm, Home Mishap Prevention Program

Educational Campaign to Aid in Eliminating Hazards Greater in Winter

The Morgan county Red Cross chapter, under auspices of the national organization, is sponsoring an educational program for Farm and Home Accident Prevention. Winter weather has greatly increased the hazards which need emphasis, in order that they may be eliminated. The program deals with one of the nation's greatest problems, fatalities, permanent disability, and injury to more than five million persons annually.

Much is known regarding the causes and prevention of home and farm accidents. There is a growing accumulation of knowledge on the subject. And furthermore, the problem is largely preventable through two means, first, the elimination of physical hazards in the home and on the farm, and second, the formation of correct attitudes and habits that will prevent accidents.

The means of combating this problem with the fund of knowledge available is education. Simply stated, education is the imparting of knowledge and inducing the will to use that knowledge and act upon it. Education is accomplished through many channels and devices including books, radio, newspapers, movies, conversation, social gatherings, exhibits and by doing things.

All of this means that the Red Cross, if it is to succeed in reducing home and farm accidents, must think of its Home and Farm Accident Prevention Program as essentially an educational program wherein all known and feasible devices of education will be used. The program, therefore, is not a series of stunts or episodes. There will be dramatic features in it, but essentially it is a continuing educational process of imparting knowledge of the cause and prevention of home and farm accidents to the people of America and of inculcating in those people the will to use that knowledge and act upon it so those accidents may be prevented.

TVA Greatest Effort Ever Made to Improve Living Conditions . . . Building Four Great Dams . . . Power Supplied to 21 Counties . . . Flood Control, Navigation, Made Possible . . . Farm, Home Electrification.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Whether the U. S. Supreme court hands down a favorable or an unfavorable decision on the constitutionality of the Tennessee Valley authority case, the government's experiment in the valley, on which about $110,000,000 will have been spent by midsummer, will go down in history as the most extensive effort to improve living conditions ever seen in the world.

Despite the rains of stories and pictures showered out of the TVA's publicity offices, despite magazine and newspaper stories by the gross, many people do not yet realize how vast is this undertaking.

Its activities spread over 40,000 square miles of the Tennessee Valley, in which 2,000,000 people live. All this area, all these people are affected. About 15,000 are now at work on its various projects.

Here are the main things TVA is doing:

1—It is building four great dams, Norris Dam, near Knoxville, Tenn., will be finished this summer. Wheeler Dam has been under way for more than two years. Pickwick Landing Dam is one year along. A dam at Guntersville, Ala. is just being begun.

With Wilson Dam, built during the World War to make nitrogen which the government needed for explosives, these barriers are the forerunners of a series of dams which will control the whole river.

Low "Yardstick" Rate
2—With surplus power from Wilson Dam, the TVA is already providing the power needed to build Norris Dam, and is supplying power to small towns and rural areas in 21 counties of Alabama, Mississippi, and Tennessee. Soon it will be serving nearly 15,000 consumers in 36 counties.

This government power is served to homes at a rate definitely lower than that which most private power companies throughout the country charge.

It is hoped this rate will serve as a "yardstick" to show people what they ought to pay, and also open up many farms and rural areas to electric power.

3—When the huge reservoir begins to fill behind Norris Dam, a start will be made in controlling disastrous floods which sweep the Tennessee Valley every spring and fall. Chattanooga alone suffers almost a half million dollars in flood damages every spring.

4—Navigation of the Tennessee river becomes a definite prospect for the future. The federal government has spent millions in the past in canals and channels, but never got much navigation. Now, with locks to allow boats to pass the new dams, and regulation of water flow in dry seasons, navigation should extend far up the Tennessee, providing cheap transport.

Cheap Fertilizers
5—Two huge plants were built at Wilson Dam during the war to make nitrogen. One is obsolete and unused. The other is being turned to experiments in creating and making phosphate fertilizers, judged more necessary than the nitrates.

New super-phosphates have been produced and tried. The new fertilizers are being distributed cheaply to farmers who will agree to try them under controlled conditions.

The unused parts of the war-time nitrate plants are being maintained in "stand-by" condition.

6—One of the greatest surveys of land use ever undertaken has been made, and as a result, the best use of all land in the basin is known. Farmers have been persuaded to terrace their lands against erosion, plant grass and trees. More than 3,000,000 trees already have been planted.

7—To encourage greater use of electricity on farms and in homes, the Electric Home and Farm Authority was begun. It finances sales of electrical equipment to people living in the TVA area, or to others served by companies whose rates meet TVA approval.

8—Towns built at Norris and Wheeler Dams for the workmen on the projects will be permanent, and should eventually pave the way to establishment of rural communities where small factories served with cheap power may be started, and employees may get the best features of city and rural life.

Expect Work to Go On
19—Valuable experiments have been made in ceramics, the electrical firing of native kaolin clays to make fine white dishes, now almost all imported. Co-operatives have been fostered among the valley residents, and forward steps taken in labor organization and relationships.

Three years after TVA was established, it already has deeply affected the life of a vast region. Should the supreme court halt any or all phases of its work, plans already are under way to find other ways of accomplishing it, through co-operation with states or even with private companies. Red Cross Sponsors Farm, Home Mishap Prevention Program

The Morgan county Red Cross chapter, under guidance of the national organization, is sponsoring an educational program for Farm and Home Accident Prevention. Winter weather has greatly increased the hazards which need emphasis, in order that they may be eliminated. The program deals with one of the nation's greatest problems, fatalities, permanent disability, and injury to more than five million persons annually.

Much is known regarding the causes and prevention of home and farm accidents. There is a growing accumulation of knowledge on the subject. And furthermore, the problem is largely preventable through two means: first, the elimination of physical hazards in the home and on the farm, and second, the formation of correct attitudes and habits that will prevent accidents.

The means of combating this problem with the fund of knowledge available is education. Simply stated, education is the imparting of knowledge and inducing the will to use that knowledge and act upon it. Education is accomplished through many channels and devices including books, radio, newspapers, movies, conversation, social gatherings, exhibits and by doing things.

All of this means that the Red Cross, if it is to succeed in reducing home and farm accidents, must think of its Home and Farm Accident Prevention Program as essentially an educational program wherein all known and feasible devices of education will be used. The program, therefore, is not a series of stunts or episodes. There will be dramatic features in it, but essentially it is a continuing educational process of imparting knowledge of the cause and prevention of home and farm accidents to the people of America and of inculcating in those people the will to use that knowledge and act upon it so those accidents may be prevented.

Roberta Butler Selected as Chairman of Banquet
Honoring Seniors

Charles Ketner will be chairman of the annual J.H.S. Junior-Senior Prom this spring and Roberta Butler will serve as chairman of the banquet. These two students won their positions in an election carried on throughout the entire junior class of the high school during the latter part of this week.

Ketner is outstanding on the Crimmon golf team and is a member of the fine basketball squad which the high school boasts at the present time. Miss Butler is prominent in speech work and is high ranking in her studies. Both are among the most popular of their class.

The Junior-Senior banquet and prom are given each year by the juniors in honor of the seniors. They are held on the same evening, usually during the last couple of weeks in March. The date for this year's affair has not been settled as yet, however.

Miss Emma Mae Leonhard is dean of the class of '37. Committees from the prom and banquet have not been appointed up to this time, but will probably be announced in the near future.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

THE girl shown below is certainly turning her back on winter. Her swim suit is of the new perfect fit type, being laced to her particular curves and angles with the adjustable braided cord.

She knitted the suit herself, using small needles and a soft yarn very similar to cashmere. The suit itself is made of aquamarine and the trimming is chestnut brown. On front, there's a wild sea horse decoration done in chestnut brown. The braided yarn cord is a darker chestnut brown.

This model might suggest that during these blustery February days you busy your hands preparing for the coming summer. Mrs. Penrose Lyly will send you the complete instructions for this smart and non-stretching swim suit. Address her care of the editor of this newspaper and enclose a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent United States stamp on it.

The other sun creature comes from Florida. She is trying to show you what is in winter beach wear, and what, very likely, will be smart beach wear this coming summer.

The two-piece novelty weave wool bathing ensemble illustrates the new popular color contrasts. The maillot is of coral pink with corded deep raspberry halter and belt. The swagger box coat is of raspberry faced with coral.

The cartwheel hat at least hints that beach costumes are not exactly the same thing as swimming costumes—in Florida, or in Southern California, Hawaii or Bermuda, for that matter. No, she did not make this fetching beach ensemble herself.

Don't Expect the Schoolma'am to Take Over Your Work

By Mrs. Penrose Lyly

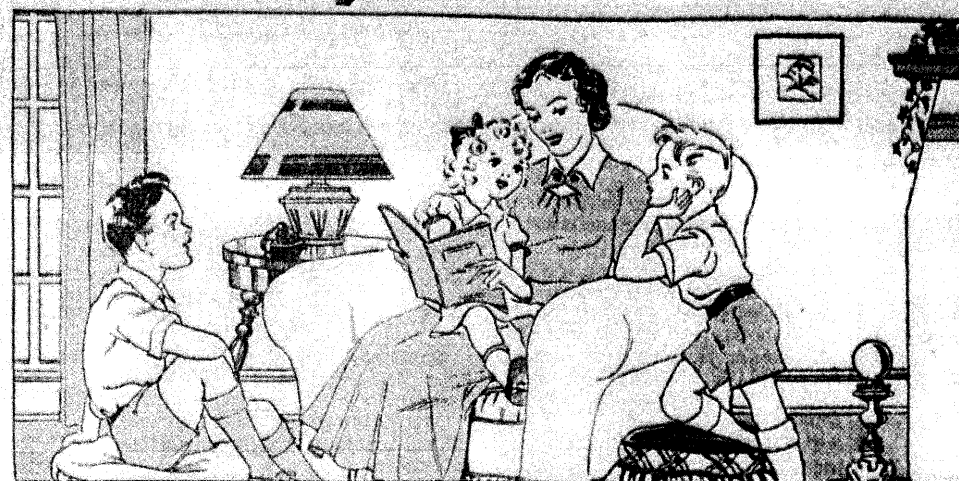

HOW many times have you heard certain mothers say that they would let little Johnny or little Mary run wild until he or she was old enough to go to school? "They will discipline and teach him all he needs to know. Why should I bother?" is the usual line of explanations that is offered by the unthinking parent.

In recent years, there has grown up in the United States an almost fantastic belief in what schools can do for children. In other times, a child was sent to school to learn to read, to write and to spell. Now he is sent to be taught manners, how to wash his teeth, the kind of clothes to wear and if there is time left, to read, to write and to spell.

Whose fault is it? The parents', perhaps, because local education more or less follows local ideas on education.

Perhaps a few harsh though illuminating words on the subject from Alexis Carrel might be worthy of attention. Dr. Carrel, a scientist with international reputation, and a Nobel Prize winner, has recently expressed himself at length on modern education in his provocative book, "Man, the Unknown." Concerning the obligations of parents in regard to education of their children, he says:

"Modern society has committed a serious mistake by entirely substituting the school for family training. The mothers abandon their children to the kindergarten in order to attend to their careers, their social ambitions, their pleasures, their literary or artistic fancies, or simply to play bridge. They are, thus, responsible for the disappearance of the family group where the child was kept in contact with adults and learned a great deal from them."

Dr. Carrel attacks the theory that children learn a great deal from other children of the same age. He assails parents who leave the mental development of their children to the facts and fancies they gather from other children in the neighborhood. He explains his reasons as follows:

"Young dogs brought up in kennels with others of the same age do not develop as well as puppies free to run about with their parents. It is the same way with children living in a crowd with other children, and with those living in the company of intelligent adults."

"The child easily molds his physiological, affective, and mental activities upon those of his surroundings. He learns little from children of his own age. When he is only a unit in a school he remains incomplete."

"In order to reach his full strength, the individual requires the relative isolation and the attention of the restricted social group consisting of the family."

Of course schools play an important part in a child's development. Dr. Carrel, one of the most caustic but most stimulating of modern social critics, says: "Schools are indispensable for technical studies. They also fill, in a certain measure, the child's need of contact with other children. But education should be the object of unfailing guidance. Such guidance belongs to the parents."

Do his ideas sound rather old-fashioned to you? Don't be deceived. Educators throughout the world are beginning to sound the warning to parents that they must take a hand in bringing up their own children. Teachers and schools will do their part. But unless modern parents lend a hand in the proper guidance of their children, we may raise a race of undeveloped youngsters.

Gay Food for Washington's Birthday

CHERRY-RED seems to be needed for any kind of meal celebrating the birthday of George Washington. Let's toast him in a mild but appropriately colorful cocktail—1 part gin, 1 part fresh orange juice, 1 part Grenadine, and a drop or two of bitters. Shake well with ice and serve to all patriots.

Provide yourself with a liberal supply of candied cherries. They are indispensable for Washington's Birthday. And of course small hatchets are still the popular symbol of our first president's place in our hearts. Red, white and blue ribbon will help, too, and a few toy cannons will give your buffet or dining room table an air worthy the occasion.

And a word of experienced advice—don't try to get the color blue in your food. Stick to red and white and let flowers or ribbons provide the blue needed.

Cherry Pudding may be what you like. Try this one. Use 3 cups of pitted, red cherries.

Beat 3 eggs until light, add 1 cup sugar and beat some more. The eggs and sugar must be light and fluffy. Then turn in 1 cup of finely crushed dry bread crumbs.

Mix well, and next add 1 cup top-bottle cream, scalded, 2 tablespoons melted butter, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice and ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind and a pinch of salt. Mix well, then add the pitted cherries.

Pour into a well-greased round baking dish, preferably a glass one for the color effect. Now, just before placing the pudding in a moderate oven, sift in 1 teaspoon baking powder, fold in, and bake. When the top of the pudding is a smooth, tempting brown, the pudding is ready to serve. It will take about 40 minutes at least.

Serve hot, with either whipped cream or a thoroughly chilled soft custard sauce.

For supper after bridge or for a bridge luncheon, you can use this reddish Louis Sauce for salad or lobster or crabmeat. To make ½ pint, mix these ingredients together: 4 tablespoons mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon finely minced and crushed garlic, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley and ½ teaspoon minced celery leaves, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 4 tablespoons first class tomato catsup and the juice of half a lemon. This sauce must be very cold. And it is a pleasant red for Washington's Birthday.

Lady Baltimore Cake is a traditional matter for this holiday. Let's take a recipe right out of Maryland's own record of good food—"Eat, Drink and Be Merry in Maryland."

Mrs. William T. Delaplaine of Frederick county says this is the way to make the best of best Lady Baltimore cakes. One cup butter, 2 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, 3½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon rose water. Add the beaten whites of 6 eggs. Bake in 3 layers in hot oven. That's the cake part and the ingredients are mixed in the regular order.

For the icing, use a regular boiled icing. But add to it these rich excellencies: 1 cup raisins and pecans, 5 figs cut in fine thin strips. Mrs. Delaplaine does not mention sliced candied cherries, but you might include them in the icing. They look gay and taste good, too.

THE WAY MEN PREFER STEAK

ASK any American man what he likes the most, and he will doubtless answer—broiled steak, very thick and not too well done.

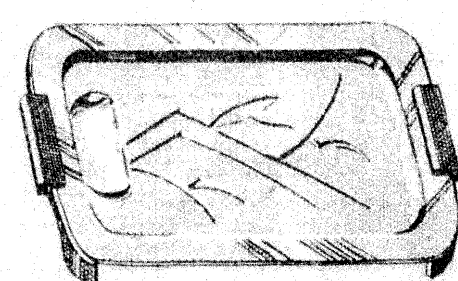

Get your broiler very hot before you run your steak under the flame. Light the broiler in the gas or electric stove about 15 minutes beforehand. It will have time to get red hot, and when the steak goes in, this great heat will sear it quickly.

Turn the steak in 3 minutes and sear the other side. Then cook another 5 minutes—longer, if you want it less rare.

Select a steak at least 2 inches thick and ask the butcher to give you one that has hung at least 2 weeks. New meat does not make good steak.

When broiled to the King's taste, lay it on a hot platter, dot liberally with fine butter and season with salt and pepper. That, worried wives, is one of the best cures for sulks and disinterest in husbands. Try it and prove it.

The new steak platter shown in the sketch should please all women who don't like to have their tables scorched. It has portable wooden handles and feet. These solid walnut combination handles and feet will keep the hot bottom of the platter raised off the table.

You slip them on to the heavy aluminum platter just before carrying it into the dining room. The entire affair is rather handsome and looks far more expensive than it really is—and it will add to the enjoyment of American men's delight: thick, juicy broiled steak.

DON'T LET WINTER GIVE YOU UGLY HANDS

THE weather may be severe, cold winds may tend to make your hands red and unsightly. But the beauty standard remains the same—a woman must have soft, white and pliant hands for loveliness and charm and all that goes with these attributes.

Gloves are all-important in the matter of smooth hands for winter. Gloves that are warm and protecting for outdoor year, gloves that are to be worn at night over soft creams and lotions which carry on their work during your sleeping hours.

Here's a point worth remembering. Always put your gloves on before you go out of the house. Do not wait until the chafing winds get a few licks at your hands before you cover them. Before you open the door, fasten the last snap on your outdoor gloves. Sounds simple, but it is important.

Lotions, creams and balms are essential. The more the better, and of course whatever you use must be reliable and sure to do its work effectively. There is one new herbal hand balm on the market which is said to be also a good cleanser and also an excellent powder foundation for evening use.

There are many good lotions, creams and balms. Among them are some old and tried products which your mother probably used in her girlhood. The packaging has changed and some improvements have been made, but the products work still on the tried and true principle. That is the principle of giving hands emollient protection against drying and chafing in cold weather.

Use these aids to smoother beauty regularly every night, and during the day every time you wash your hands.

Your intentions may be good but unless you arrange to have a lotion near the washstand and in the kitchen over the sink, you may not remember to use it every time you wash your hands. Wherever you wash, there also should be your protection against red and roughened winter skin.

FOR THE YOUNG AND CHARMING

If you are very young, and as lovely as you are young—or if you want to appear a little younger and lovelier than you really are—here's a new evening ensemble that will interest you. Designed by that talented young American designer, Elizabeth Hawes, it includes a short-sleeved squirrel racket with collarless neck, which gives a charming ingenuous effect. The jacket is worn over a flowing gray chiffon gown. The gloves, elbow length, are in navy blue.

IT WON'T BE LONG NOW!

THE girl shown below is certainly turning her back on winter. Her swim suit is of the new perfect fit type, being laced to her particular curves and angles with the adjustable braided cord.

She knitted the suit herself, using small needles and a soft yarn very similar to cashmere. The suit itself is made of aquamarine and the trimming is chestnut brown. On front, there's a wild sea horse decoration done in chestnut brown. The braided yarn cord is a darker chestnut brown.

This model might suggest that during these blustery February days you busy your hands preparing for the coming summer. Mrs. Penrose Lyly will send you the complete instructions for this smart and non-stretching swim suit. Address her care of the editor of this newspaper and enclose a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent United States stamp on it.

The other sun creature comes from Florida. She is trying to show you what is what in winter beach wear, and what, very likely, will be smart beach wear this coming summer.

The two-piece novelty weave wool bathing ensemble illustrates the new popular color contrasts. The maillot is of coral pink with corded deep raspberry halter and belt. The swagger box coat is of raspberry faced with coral.

The cartwheel hat at least hints that beach costumes are not exactly the same thing as swimming costumes—in Florida, or in Southern California, Hawaii or Bermuda, for that matter. No, she did not make this fetching beach ensemble herself.

Don't Expect the Schoolma'am to Take Over Your Work

By Mrs. Penrose Lyly

HOW many times have you heard certain mothers say that they would let little Johnny or little Mary run wild until he or she was old enough to go to school? "They will discipline and teach him all he needs to know. Why should I bother?" is the usual line of explanations that is offered by the unthinking parent.

In recent years, there has grown up in the United States an almost fantastic belief in what schools can do for children. In other times, a child was sent to school to learn to read, to write and to spell. Now he is sent to be taught manners, how to wash his teeth, the kind of clothes to wear and if there is time left, to read, to write and to spell.

Whose fault is it? The parents', perhaps, because local education more or less follows local ideas on education.

Perhaps a few harsh though illuminating words on the subject from Alexis Carrel might be worthy of attention. Dr. Carrel, a scientist with international reputation, and a Nobel Prize winner, has recently expressed himself at length on modern education in his provocative book, "Man, the Unknown." Concerning the obligations of parents in regard to education of their children, he says:

"Modern society has committed a serious mistake by entirely substituting the school for family training. The mothers abandon their children to the kindergarten in order to attend to their careers, their social ambitions, their pleasures, their literary or artistic fancies, or simply to play bridge. They are, thus, responsible for the disappearance of the family group where the child was kept in contact with adults and learned a great deal from them."

Dr. Carrel attacks the theory that children learn a great deal from other children of the same age. He assails parents who leave the mental development of their children to the facts and fancies they gather from other children in the neighborhood. He explains his reasons as follows:

"Young dogs brought up in kennels with others of the same age do not develop as well as puppies free to run about with their parents. It is the same way with children living in a crowd with other children, and with those living in the company of intelligent adults."

"The child easily molds his physiological, affective, and mental activities upon those of his surroundings. He learns little from children of his own age. When he is only a unit in a school he remains incomplete."

"In order to reach his full strength, the individual requires the relative isolation and the attention of the restricted social group consisting of the family."

Of course schools play an important part in a child's development. Dr. Carrel, one of the most caustic but most stimulating of modern social critics, says: "Schools are indispensable for technical studies. They also fill, in a certain measure, the child's need of contact with other children. But education should be the object of unfailing guidance. Such guidance belongs to the parents."

Do his ideas sound rather old-fashioned to you? Don't be deceived. Educators throughout the world are beginning to sound the warning to parents that they must take a hand in bringing up their own children. Teachers and schools will do their part. But unless modern parents lend a hand in the proper guidance of their children, we may raise a race of undeveloped youngsters.

FOR THE YOUNG AND CHARMING

If you are very young, and as lovely as you are young—or if you want to appear a little younger and lovelier than you really are—here's a new evening ensemble that will interest you. Designed by that talented young American designer, Elizabeth Hayes, it includes a short-sleeved jacket with a collarless neck, which gives a charming effect. The jacket is worn over a flowing gray chiffon gown. The gloves, elbow length, are in navy blue.

To Get Different Flavor, Substitute Canned Milks for Fresh in Cooking

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

I hope you know about not only the purity but the value of canned and dried milks as an ingredient in cooking. Since all canned milks have been heated sufficiently to alter their flavors, they blend excellently with many other foods and produce unusually delicious dishes. The process of evaporation develops a flavor suggestive of caramel as well as a richness and smoothness of texture that make it undiluted, almost like cream.

Condensed milk, which is a sweetened evaporated milk, supplies sugar for desserts, cakes and beverages in addition to its own flavor.

The milk powders, when dissolved in water, form a "reconstituted" milk which can scarcely be distinguished from fresh milk.

The canned creams, both for coffee and whipping, have been sterilized before sealing and will keep indefinitely before opening. After opening, they must be treated just like fresh cream.

Spillage Almost Eliminated
Since these canned milks can be kept on the emergency shelf unopened until needed, there is no waste from souring, as is often the case with fresh milk.

Daily Menu
BREAKFAST: Oranges, cereal cooked with dates, cream, waffles, maple syrup, milk, coffee.
LUNCHEON: Bouillon, toasted crackers, apple rus sandwiches, Spanish chocolate, cocoa.
DINNER: Mutton stew with rice dumplings, diced turnips with Dutch sauce, new onions and radishes, butterscotch pie, milk, coffee.

Spanish chocolate is a delicious drink made with both condensed and evaporated milk. It is not suitable for children because it contains coffee, but adults will enjoy it immensely, say late in the evening with sandwiches.

Any of the prepared milks can be substituted for sweet milk in almost any recipe. Always dilute the prepared milk according to the directions on the package before substituting it for sweet milk.

Spanish Chocolate
One square bitter chocolate, 4 tablespoons condensed milk, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1-2 cups strong coffee infusion, few grains salt, 1-8 teaspoon cinnamon, few drops vanilla.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add condensed milk. Add coffee slowly, stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk, salt, and cinnamon and heat almost to the boiling point, beating with a rotary beater. Add vanilla and serve. The cinnamon and vanilla may be omitted or just one or the other used.

A delicious sandwich to serve with the beverage is

Bird Life of City Needing More Food

Citizens Should Leave Feed Out for Starving Feathered Friends in Community

Bird life in this community is having a tough time of it these days. Ice and snow cover the usual sources of food, and the birds are hard put to it to get a living. Citizens should give aid by scattering food in convenient places.

Corn meal, rolled oats, bread crumbs, anything of the sort will do. Hungry birds are not particular, nor will they stand on ceremony when food is put out for them. A little thought and effort on the part of citizens may preserve large numbers of the city's feathered population.

Throughout the ice-bound regions of the middle west, state game departments are trying to save the quail and other game birds from starvation. In some places grain is being dropped from airplanes. It is sent down in paper bags, which burst when they hit the ground, scattering the food over a wide area.

POINT
The regular church night meeting at Wesley Chapel has been postponed indefinitely.

Because of severe weather only a few members were able to attend the meeting of the Ever Ready Sunday school class at the home of Mary Francis Hills Friday evening.

To Get Different Flavor, Substitute Canned Milks for Fresh in Cooking

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

I hope you know about not only the purity but the value of canned and dried milks as an ingredient in cookery. Since all canned milks have been heated sufficiently to alter their flavors, they blend excellently with many other foods and produce unusually delicious dishes. The process of evaporation develops a flavor suggestive of caramel as well as a richness and smoothness of texture that make it, undiluted, almost like cream.

Condensed milk, which is a sweetened evaporated milk, supplies sugar for desserts, cakes and beverages in addition to its own flavor.

The milk powders, when dissolved in water, form a "reconstituted" milk which can scarcely be distinguished from fresh milk.

The canned creams, both for coffee and whipping, have been sterilized before sealing and will keep indefinitely before opening. After opening, they must be treated just like fresh cream.

Spillage Almost Eliminated
Since these canned milks can be kept on the emergency shelf unopened until needed, there is no waste from souring, as is often the case with fresh milk.

Daily Menu

BREAKFAST: Oranges, cereal cooked with dates, cream, waffles, maple syrup, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Bouillon, toasted crackers, apple ring sandwiches, Spanish chocolate, cocoa.

DINNER: Mutton stew with rice dumplings, diced turnips with Dutch sauce, new onions and radishes, butterscotch pie, milk, coffee.

Spanish chocolate is a delicious drink made with both condensed and evaporated milk. It is not suitable for children because it contains coffee, but adults will enjoy it immensely, say late in the evening with sandwiches.

Any of the prepared milks can be substituted for sweet milk in almost any recipe. Always dilute the prepared milk according to the directions on the package before substituting it for sweet milk.

Spanish Chocolate

One square bitter chocolate, 4 tablespoons condensed milk, 1 cup evaporated milk, 1-2 cups strong coffee infusion, few grains salt, 1-8 teaspoon cinnamon, few drops vanilla.

Melt chocolate over hot water. Add condensed milk. Add coffee slowly, stirring constantly. Add evaporated milk, salt, and cinnamon and heat almost to the boiling point, beating with a rotary beater. Add vanilla and serve. The cinnamon and vanilla may be omitted or just one or the other used.

A delicious sandwich to serve with the beverage is

Bird Life of City Needing More Food

Citizens Should Leave Feed
Out for Starving Feathered
Friends in Community

Bird life in this community is having a tough time of it these days. Ice and snow cover the usual sources of food, and the birds are hard put to it to get a living. Citizens should give aid by scattering food in convenient places.

Corn meal, rolled oats, bread crumbs, anything of the sort will do. Hungry birds are not particular, nor will they stand on ceremony when food is put out for them. A little thought and effort on the part of citizens may preserve large numbers of the city's feathered population.

Throughout the ice-bound regions of the middle west, state game departments are trying to save the quail and other game birds from starvation. In some places grain is being dropped from airplanes. It is sent down in paper bags, which burst when they hit the ground, scattering the food over a wide area.

Parliament Brings First Social Credit Showdown

The first opportunity Albertans had to learn what Premier William Aberhart, indicated by arrow, and his huge Social Credit majority intend to do about supplying the $25-a-month "dividend" promised when they were swept into office six months ago, came when the Eighth Legislature opened, as shown above, in Edmonton, with Lieut-Gov. W. L. Walsh pictured on his throne, reading the opening speech. Social Creditors are shown at left; seven opposition members at right. Grumblings expect, at this or the next session, a definite program for starting Social Credit and its "dividends"; otherwise Aberhart's job will be in peril.

Meredosia Bridge Closed for Repairs Beginning Monday

Traffic Across River to Be Stopped Between 7 A.M. and 4:30 P.M. Daily

Beginning Monday, Feb. 17, and continuing for two weeks, the Wabash bridge at Meredosia will be closed to highway traffic between the hours of 7:00 a. m. and 4:30 p. m. The bridge is being closed to permit workmen to make repairs and to lay down a new floor.

The only exception to the rule will be at 9:15 a. m. each day when the bridge will be opened to permit the passage of mail trucks. It is understood that any cars at the bridge at that time will be permitted to cross.

The closing of the bridge will greatly interfere with highway traffic back and forth across the Illinois river on Route 104. Crossings will have to be made at Beardstown or Florence. Trucks with regular routes will have to detour and thus lengthen their runs.

The work is being done at this time as it is felt there is a minimum of traffic on the highway. However, the inconvenience is greater because the ice in the river does not permit the operation of ferries. However, the work of repairing the bridge will be pushed rapidly as weather conditions will allow, and it is expected to have normal traffic restored within two weeks.

Jacksonville Nurse Becomes Bride in White Hall Service

Helen Marjean Strang and

White Hall.—Two of the old well-known families of White Hall were united Friday morning when Helen Marjean Strang became the bride of Donald North Shirley. The ceremony took place at 9:30 a. m. at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Griswold, on North Main street. Rev. T. E. Lutz of Jacksonville officiated, using the single ring service in the presence of twenty-five guests. There were no attendants.

The bride was attired in white satin and wore a corsage of Tailsman roses. A two course breakfast was served to the wedding party and immediately the young couple departed for their new home in Bloomington, where they will be located at 305 East Locust street.

Both of these young people graduated from the White Hall High school with the class of 1931. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strang, and upon graduating from the high school she entered nurses training at Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, from which institution she graduated in September, 1934. Since that time she has been employed in her profession, spending the last three months at Our Saviour's hospital.

The groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shirley and after leaving high school spent two years at Illinois College, specializing in commercial art. In February, 1935, he accepted a position with Kane's Engraving Company, where he is now employed.

Parliament Brings First Social Credit Showdown

The first opportunity Albertans had to learn what Premier William Aberhart, indicated by arrow, and his huge Social Credit majority may intend to do about supplying the $25-a-month "dividend" promised when they were swept into office six months ago, came when the Eighth Legislature opened, as shown above, in Edmonton, with Lieut-Gov. W. L. Walsh pictured on his throne, reading the opening speech. Social Creditors are shown at left; seven opposition members at right. Grumblers expect, at this or the next session, a definite program for starting Social Credit and its "dividends"; otherwise Aberhart's job will be in peril.

Jacksonville Nurse Becomes Bride in White Hall Service

Helen Marjean Strang and Donald North Shirley are United in Marriage White Hall—Two of the old well-known families of White Hall were united Friday morning when Helen Marjean Strang became the bride of Donald North Shirley. The ceremony took place at 9:30 a.m. at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Griswold, on North Main street. Rev. T. B. Lugg of Jacksonville officiated, using the single ring service in the presence of twenty-five guests. There were no attendants. The bride was attired in white satin and wore a corsage of Talcott roses. A two course breakfast was served to the wedding party and immediately the young couple departed for their new home in Bloomington, where they will be located at 305 East Locust street. Both of these young people graduated from the White Hall High school with the class of 1931. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Strang, and upon graduating from the high school she entered nurses training at Our Saviour's hospital in Jacksonville, from which institution she graduated in September, 1934. Since that time she has been employed in her profession, spending the last three months at Our Saviour's hospital. The groom is the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shirley and after leaving high school spent two years at Illinois College, specializing in commercial art. In February, 1935, he accepted a position with Kane's Engraving Company, where he is now employed. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Strang, son William, and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Griswold and family, Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Griswold and family, Mrs. J. B. Weisner and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Barton, grandmother and aunt and uncle of the bride, from Greenfield, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. The work is being done at this time as it is felt there is a minimum of traffic on the highways. However, the inconvenience is greater because the ice in the river does not permit the operation of ferries. However, the work of repairing the bridge will be pushed rapidly as weather conditions will allow, and it is expected to have normal traffic restored within two weeks.

The only exception to the rule will be at 9:15 a. m. each day when the bridge will be opened to permit the passage of mail trucks. It is understood that any cars at the bridge at that time will be permitted to cross. The closing of the bridge will greatly interfere with highway traffic

Wesleyan Rambles Over Blueboys With Impressive Attack 50-25

Fair's Basket Turns Rockets Back 26 to 24

White Hall Snatches Fierce Battle In Last Moments; Fair Leads Scoring

Dean Fair's basket in the last few moments of play gave White Hall's Maroons a 26 to 24 victory over Routt in a nip and tuck basketball game on the Liberty Hall court Saturday night at Routt came dangerously close to upsetting the White Hall club. A ding-dong, rough game all the way, the lead changed hands almost as rapidly as baskets were scored, with Routt leading at the various intermission periods.

Up and down the court one of the fiercest battles of the season waged as the Rockets, displaying their best form of the year, fought tooth and toe-mail to upset the team that has been romping over other opponents in this section with considerable ease.

There was little to choose from between the two teams, Routt handling the ball faster and snappier and scoring better than they have for many moons, while White Hall, more deliberate but fast and accurate, put a somewhat different type of game. "Skeets" Lawrence hit the top of the form he has displayed this year with his fast work around the basket, despite the efforts of three tall White men to stop him. Lawrence tagged 12 points, six points in each half.

to lead his team on one of their greatest exhibitions. White Hall, smooth and sure, trailed at the end of the first period 6-5 and at the end of the half 14-10. They were still behind at the end of the third quarter, 19-17, but struck quickly when the final period opened to drive its way into the lead, and then they held it, until the Rockets tied up the count. Fair's shot clinched the issue in the last few moments.

Fair was the ace of the White Hall scoring attack, the Rockets covering Wendell and Myers to prevent them from scoring close to the basket. Routt reserves beat White Hall 24 to 4 in the opener.

Crimsons Tamp Jerseyville by 44 to 17 Score

Lukeman, Moxon And Ketter Turn On Scoring Speed; Seconds Win

Jerseyville, Feb. 15.—Jacksonville high won as it pleased here tonight, smothering Jerseyville for the second time this year as it marked up its 20th victory against 24 starts by a 44 to 17 score. The Crimson seconds almost won, taking the curtain raiser by a 36 to 17 score.

Paced by Elmer Lukeman, who pitched in 12 points, and seconded by Allyn Ketter and George Moxon, who each scored ten points, the Crimsons sewed up the game almost in the first quarter, and played a large part of the second half with reserves on the court.

Racing away with a 16 to 3 lead in the first quarter, when the Crimson height and speed left the Jerseyville lads far behind, the Crimsons relaxed a bit in the second period to notch only eight points while Jerseyville was scoring six, the half ending with the Crimsons in front 24 to 9.

Reserves started replacing the regulars shortly after the third period began, but the Crimsons kept right on banging the hoop, registering a 35 to 15 score at the end of the period. The whole second string was in the game for the final period.

Hillview Wins Four Team Meet At Alsey

Defeat Chapin 41 To 18 For Title After Kampsville Noses Out Alsey

Alsey, Feb. 15.—Hillview romped to a victory in Alsey's much postponed four team tournament here tonight when they defeated Chapin in the championship game 41 to 18. Kampsville took the third place title away from Alsey in a thrilling third place battle 26 to 24.

The opening round, played in the afternoon, brought Hillview a 26 to 12 victory over Alsey, and a forfeit for Chapin when Kampsville failed to negotiate the slippery roads in time to report for the game. Kampsville appeared for the night session, however.

Large crowds turned out for both sessions of the tournament.

Deacon Litz First To Enter Classic

Indianapolis, Ind.—The man mount of motors is again ahead of the field in the entry-blank race.

A. B. "Deacon" Litz, 235 pounds of nifty pilot, is the first to enter the annual 500-mile automobile classic at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next May 30th, with his big charger.

Litz has selected a fly-weight, elbow proof companion, Louis Browning to ride with him.

The Deacon believes in preparedness. Emulating the example of the beer drinker who consumed a gallon of brew before waging that he could accomplish the trick, Litz sent his car over the bricks in a pre-race drive of 500 miles last year in preparation for the official five-century grind.

A check of his machine after the run gave the "Deacon" and his relief driver, Tony Gulotta, the jitters when they found the frame, knuckles, and gadgets broken, but the lesson resulted in the Litz entry finishing eighth and in the money.

Tiger Offense Folds Up In Second Half After Holding Foes

Litchfield high solved the I. S. D. defense, and the Tiger offense folded up almost completely in the second half of their game last night on the I. S. D. court, the visitors streaking away to a 27 to 9 victory with a second half assault.

Checking their fast breaking, hard driving attack through the first half, the Tigers wilted before an even faster and more accurate shooting attack in the second half. Personett, Litchfield's well co-ordinated center, did the main work on his own hoop in the second half after Bray's long distance firing kept the visitors in front during the opening part of the game.

Tight through the first half, the Tigers were unable to keep up with the swarming attack the visitors sent hustling down the court in the second half. Litchfield barely worked out a 3 to 2 lead in the first quarter, and only Bray's shooting from deep in the court gave them a 9 to 6 margin at the end of the half.

Litchfield crawled away two more points in the third quarter, when they stepped out to a 13 to 8 lead, and then they turned on the steam, when the Tigers broke up their set defense in an effort to get back the points.

Cavalcade Is Out Of Big Handicap

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The biggest crowd in the history of the track was predicted tonight for the running next Saturday of the world's richest horse race—the $112,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Officials of the Los Angeles turf club hope to cram more than $5,000 spectators into the huge Arcadia Park. Eighty-two thoroughbreds were nominated for the handicap, greatest turf attraction in the west. The starting field, however, hardly is expected to reach the even 20 that went to the post in the 1935 inaugural race.

Mrs. Isobel Dodge Sloane's Cavalcade was declared out of the race today because of foot injuries. The big champion has been ailing for some time, but not until today was his definite withdrawal announced.

Previously Ladysman, runner-up in the 1935 handicap, was declared out because of a torn ligament. His handlers entertained a ray of hope, however, that he may go postward after all.

Ascar, Time Supply, Top Row, Head Play and Riskulus are back again for the handicap this year. All are considered almost certain starters, along with Discovery, Flamenco, Rosemont, Whopper, Pompey's Pillar, Marv, Thursday, First Minstrel, Ariel Cross, Preeminent, and possibly Tick On.

Pittsfield Defeats Bluffs By 28 To 16

Bluffs, Feb. 15.—Pittsfield high assured itself of an Illinois Valley championship here tonight when it won from Bluffs high 28 to 16 in a conference game. The Indians have but one more game on their schedule in the conference.

Paced by J. Willard, who tossed in 13 points, the Indians led all the way through the game.

FAN BREEZES By Ernest Savage

This week will mark the beginning of the end for basketball players, although some of the regularly scheduled games have been booked for next week.

District tournaments get underway in most districts a week from this Wednesday, and the following week has been set aside for the regional tournaments. There will be 128 teams left out of the more than 800 entering the districts and regionals, and that 128 will be cut to 16 during the following week.

Then come the state finals at Champaign with all of its color and fanfare.

Virginia, Bluffs and Franklin continue to rate as the three teams which will come out of the I. S. D. district into the regional, and Jacksonville high and Winchester or Auburn are the favorites to advance to a sectional. I. S. D. may pull a couple of upsets, and Virginia, with its large number of veterans, is not to be overlooked.

In fact, the district and regional are promising plenty of good, warm competition. New Berlin may spring a few surprises before the firing is over in the district.

Greenfield has revived its hopes of getting into the regional as the result of its victory over Carrollton the other night. Roodhouse, the Greene county champs, and Hillview, runners-up in the Greene county tournament, probably will meet in another championship match, with Greenfield facing Modesto for the third place title, and a chance in the regional.

Pleasant Hill and Griggsview appear to be the best bets in the Griggsview district, with Pleasant Hill a favorite to win the title. Both winner and runner-up will go over to Pittsfield for the regional tournament, where anything may happen.

Jerseyville's district is practically devoid of any outstanding teams, and the result probably will be some thrilling ball games. Observers down that way profess to see nothing but a Jerseyville-Gillespie final in the regional.

Basil Sorrells, president of the Jacksonville Park Board, copied the honors for being the oldest "J" winner present at the "J" night celebration at the David Prince gymnasium Friday night. Sorrells played football from 1906 to 1912.

Others present at the special game were: Nellis Sanders, 19-20, football; Ray Zell, 23, basketball; F. O. Sanders, 24, basketball; Martin Beeley, 27-28, football and basketball; Edward Smith, 29, basketball and track; M. Massey, 27-29, football; Robert Goheen, Edward Chumley, 31, basketball; Ted Wright, 29-30, basketball; Tom Ketter, 32, basketball; W. G. Ranson, 32-33, basketball and football; Harold McCarty, Melvin Shadid, 32, basketball; Eldred Robinson, 32, football; Eugene E. Goheen, 33, football and basketball; T. Brennan, 33, basketball; Harlan Dobson, Joe Ryan, Paul Byus, 33, football; Harry Dowland, John Brennan, 33, managers; Frank Baptist, Francis Willner, Ralph Grogan, 34, football; Jay Mann, 34, 35, basketball; Eddie Maurer, 35, track; Fred May Willard Brockhouse, 34, basketball; Maurice Lair, 35, manager; Dick Hartman, Charles Davis, and Harlan Eyrse 35, football.

There were 34 former H. S. athletes present. Harold Gibson, J. H. S. faculty athletic manager, said Saturday that the idea would be tried again, although probably not this year because the Crimsons have only two more home games. The next is with Athens here Friday night, and the last with Murrayville here a week from Monday night.

When the regulars, consisting of the Fletcher, Henry Clark and Lambert, along with Watts, took the floor for the second half, things began to hum with a new tune. Play was faster and contact was a bit more solid. There seemed to be more arms and hands flying around in the air, and there was more of a crush under both cages as players of both teams came in to get the ball after shots.

Gentle shoves became quite noticeable pushes as the second half advanced, and more often than in the first period, players picked themselves up off the floor.

Greenfield Noses Out Roodhouse Five

Greenfield, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Squeezing out their second win in as many nights, Greenfield high tonight upset Roodhouse, Greene county champions, 28 to 27 in a thrilling battle. The severe was tied at the end of the first half, and again at the end of the third quarter, Greenfield finishing in front by a narrow point, defending the margin through the last minute of play.

Roodhouse reserves won the curtain raiser 40 to 8.

Wesleyan Rambles Over Blueboys With Impressive Attack 50-25

Fair's Basket Turns Rockets Back 26 to 24

White Hall Snatches Fierce Battle In Last Moments: Fair Leads Scoring

Dean Fair's basket in the last few moments of play gave White Hall's Maroons a 26 to 24 victory over Routt in a nip and tuck basketball game on the Liberty Hall court Saturday night at Routt came dangerously close to upsetting the White Hall club. A ding-dong, rough game all the way, the lead changed hands almost as rapidly as baskets were scored, with Routt leading at the various intermission periods.

Up and down the court one of the fiercest battles of the season waged as the Rockets, displaying their best form of the year, fought tooth and toe-not to upset the team that has been romping over other opponents in this section with considerable ease.

There was little to choose from between the two teams, Routt handling the ball faster and snappier and scoring better than they have for many moons, while White Hall, more deliberate but fast and accurate, put a somewhat different type of game.

"Skeets" Lawrence hit the top of the form he has displayed this year with his fast work around the basket, despite the efforts of three tall White men to stop him. Lawrence tagged 12 points, six points in each half, to lead his team on one of their greatest exhibitions.

White Hall, smooth and sure, trailed at the end of the first period 6-5 and at the end of the half 14-10. They were still behind at the end of the third quarter, 19-17, but struck quickly when the final period opened to drive its way into the lead, and then they held it, until the Rockets tied up the count. Fair's shot cinched the issue in the last few moments.

Fair was the ace of the White Hall scoring attack, the Rockets covering Wendell and Myers to prevent them from scoring close to the basket.

Routt reserves beat White Hall 24 to 4 in the opener.

He Did Captures $25,000 Purse

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Mrs. Silas B. Mason's He Did won the $25,000 added derby today, beating out Valiant Fox by a head, with Gold Seeker third.

He Did's victory was worth $25,000 in added money to the Mason stable.

The winner ran the mile and one sixteenth in 1:49 2-5 over a muddy track.

The Gallant son of Victorian paid $5.20 to win, $3.00 to place and $3.20 to show for a $2 ticket.

Norman Church's Valiant Fox paid $4 and $4 and Gold Seeker, a long shot, paid $10.40 to show.

He Did took the lead to five lengths at the half, and was never threatened until the final sprint. Jockey Maurice Peters brought up the Foxcatcher Farms Gild Seeker from behind to take third place from the Pelletier Trainer Tienob.

Jockey Les Balaski gave the whip to Valiant Fox but failed to overtake the flying He Did with Wayne Wright up.

Second place purse was worth $4,000, third place $2,000 and Tienob collected $1000 for fourth place.

Crimsons Tamp Jerseyville by 44 to 17 Score

Lukeman, Moxon And Ketterner Turn On Scoring Speed: Seconds Win

Jerseyville, Feb. 15.—Jacksonville high won as it pleased here tonight, smashing Jerseyville for the second time this year as it marked up its 20th victory against 24 starts by a 44 to 17 score. The Crimsons seconds also won, taking the curtain raiser by a 36 to 17 score.

Paced by Elmer Lukeman, who pitched in 12 points, and seconded by Alvin Ketterner and George Moxon, who each scored ten points, the Crimsons sewed up the game almost in the first quarter, and played a large part of the second half with reserves on the court.

Racing away with a 16 to 3 lead in the first quarter, when the Crimsons height and speed left the Jerseyville lads far behind, the Crimsons relaxed a bit in the second period to notch only eight points while Jerseyville was scoring six, the half ending with the Crimsons in front 24 to 9.

Reserves started replacing the regulars shortly after the third period began, but the Crimsons kept right on banging the hoop, registering a 35 to 15 score at the end of the period. The whole second string was in the game for the final period.

Hillview Wins Four Team Meet At Alsey

Defeat Chapin 41 To 18 For Title After Kampsville Noses Out Alsey

Alsey, Feb. 15.—Hillview romped to a victory in Alsey's much postponed four team tournament here tonight when they defeated Chapin in the championship game 41 to 18. Kampsville took the third place title away from Alsey in a thrilling third place battle 26 to 24.

The opening round, played in the afternoon, brought Hillview a 26 to 12 victory over Alsey, and a forfeit for Chapin when Kampsville failed to negotiate the slippery roads in time to report for the game. Kampsville appeared for the night session, however.

Large crowds turned out for both sessions of the tournament.

Johnny Revolts Still In Lead

By Kenneth Gregory
Associated Press Sports Writer
Thomashville, Ga., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Sensational shot making over a soggy battleground and a day of stroking that saw the course record shattered by two strokes ended this afternoon as a rainstorm swept the Glen Arden layout with Johnny Revolts of Milwaukee still in front of the field in the Thomashville $3,000 open golf tournament.

Shortly before Revolts, National P. G. A. champion and leading money winner of 1935, completed the second 18 holes of the 72-hole grind with a neat 68, Herman Barron, professional from White Plains, N. Y., shattered the course record with a spectacular 64, eight strokes under par.

Revolts' total of 137 at the midpoint of the tournament gave him a one stroke lead over the field, with Barron and Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., who earlier in the day equalled the course record with a 33-33-66, in a deadlock for second place with 138.

Barron's 64 was the lowest score recorded in any of the winter tournaments thus far.

Barron's round was by far the best golf of the opening half of the tournament. He clipped six strokes from par on the outgoing nine, collecting six birdies, and toured the incoming layout in 34, getting two birdies. He barely missed a birdie on the 36th hole.

Revolts, who led the field yesterday with a 69, had six birdies in his second round. He was out in 33 and returned with a 35, shattering par by four strokes and maintaining his position as favorite for the top prize of $700.

The final 36 holes of the tournament will be played tomorrow.

Deacon Litz First To Enter Classic

Indianapolis, Ind.—The man mountain of motors is again ahead of the field in the entry-blank race.

A. B. "Deacon" Litz, 235 pounds of nervy pilot, is the first to enter the annual 500-mile automobile classic at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next May 30th, with his big charger.

Litz has selected a fly-weight, elbow-proof companion, Louis Browning to ride with him.

The Deacon believes in preparedness. Emulating the example of the beer drinker who consumed a gallon of brew before wagering that he could accomplish the trick, Litz sent his car over the bricks in a pre-race drive of 500 miles last year in preparation for the official five-century grind. A check of his machine after the run gave the "Deacon" and his relief driver, Tony Gulotta, the jitters when they found the frame, knuckles, and gadgets broken, but the lesson resulted in the Litz entry finishing eighth and in the money.

Tiger Offense Folds Up In Second Half After Holding Foes

Litchfield high solved the I. S. D. defense, and the Tiger offense folded up almost completely in the second half of their game last night on the I. S. D. court, the visitors streaking away to a 27 to 9 victory with a second half assault.

Checking their fast breaking, hard driving attack through the first half, the Tigers wilted before an even faster and more accurate shooting attack in the second half. Personett, Litchfield's well co-ordinated center, did the main work on his own hoop in the second half after Bray's long distance firing kept the visitors in front through the opening part of the game.

Fight through the first half, the Tigers were unable to keep up with the swarming attack the visitors sent hustling down the court in the second half. Litchfield barely worked out a 3 to 2 lead in the first quarter, and only Bray's shooting from deep in the court gave them a 9 to 6 margin at the end of the half.

Litchfield crawled away two more points in the third quarter, when they stepped out to a 13 to 8 lead, and then they turned on the steam, when the Tigers broke up their set defense in an effort to get back the points.

Cavaleade Is Out Of Big Handicap

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The biggest crowd in the history of the track was predicted tonight for the running next Saturday of the world's richest horse race—the $112,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Officials of the Los Angeles turf club hope to cram more than 65,000 spectators into the huge Arcadia Park.

Eighty-two thoroughbreds were nominated for the handicap, greatest turf attraction in the west. The starting field, however, hardly is expected to reach the even 20 that went to the post in the 1935 inaugural race.

Mrs. Isobel Dodge Sloane's Cavaleade was declared out of the race today because of foot injuries. The big champion has been ailing for some time, but not until today was his definite withdrawal announced.

Previously Ladyman, runner-up in the 1935 handicap, was declared out because of a torn ligament. His handlers entertained a ray of hope, however, that he may go postward after all.

Azucar, Time Supply, Top Row, Head Play and Riskulus, are back again for the handicap this year. All are considered almost certain starters, along with Discovery, Flamenco, Rosemont, Whopper, Pompey's Pillar, Harv, Thursday, First Minstrel, Ariel Cross, Preeminent, and possibly Tick On.

This week will mark the beginning of the end for basketball players, although some of the regularly scheduled games have been booked for next week.

District tournaments get underway in most districts a week from this Wednesday, and the following week has been set aside for the regional tournaments. There will be 128 teams left out of the more than 800 entering the districts and regionals, and that 128 will be cut to 16 during the following week.

Others present at the special game were: Nellis Sanders, 19-23 football; Ray Zell 23, basketball; F. O. Two Thoughts Fail to Bring Down Visitors

Titans Pile Up 33 To 5 Score Against Seconds In First Half Of Game

Illinois Wesleyan's high geared basketball team, aided by a startling change in the Illinois College starting line-up which played for one half, marked up its tenth Little 19 victory here Saturday night by a 50 to 25 score. The Blueboys, with second string players for the most part performing during the opening half, went into the intermission with a 33 to 5 score against them, and the regulars who started the second half, were able to knock off just three points of that margin.

Again, as against Southern Teachers last week, Illinois College players had an idea—and again, it didn't work. The idea, it seems, was to hold Wesleyan during the fore part of the game with reserves, and then fire the regulars into the trenches to stage an upset. It might have worked, had the second string held the Titans, but that is one of the reasons the Titans at present are leading the stage college circuit—they can't be held.

Then, there was another argument. Coach Van Meter felt that the two Fletcher brothers were not physically equipped to handle a full game assignment against Wesleyan, and held them on the sidelines along with Henry Clark and Clayton Lambert. Nick Watts was the only one of the regular players who was judged to have a physique sufficiently rugged to weather the bruising Wesleyan attack, and he did it well.

Wesleyan crossed up this idea from the start by playing a fast clean game. They simply outstruck the second stringers, who put up a good game despite their failure to score. The Titans took a 7-0 lead then Illinois got three points. From then on until just before the gun ending the period, the Blueboys failed to score, Wesleyan running through the Blueboy defense and racking up points with fast breaks when they could be worked, and with clever passing and long shooting when the Illinois defense was able to get down the court ahead of the ball.

The Titans were hitting the hoop well too. Their percentage of hits at the start was not so good, but before the half ended, they had found the secret of throwing for the bucket, and mastered it well.

Illinois used Miles, Glenn, Coddington, McCullum and Watts in the starting line-up, and the boys played a good floor game, except that they failed to get many shots at the goal, and the ones they did get rolled off the rim of the hoop. They appeared to tire as the game progressed, their play becoming ragged toward the end of the half when they had difficulty in completing more than three consecutive passes.

Then came the regulars, consisting of the Fletchers, Henry Clark and Lambert, along with Watts, took the floor for the second half, things began to hum with a new tune. Play was faster and contact was a bit more solid. There seemed to be more arms and hands flying around in the air, and there was more of a crush under both cages as players of both teams came in to get the ball after shots. Gentle shoves became quite noticeable pushes as the second half advanced, and more often than in the first period, players picked themselves up off the floor.

Coach Harry Bell shifted his line-up around rapidly as he kept his long string of varsity players shutting in.

Cardinals and Tigers Have Edge Over All Rivals When It Comes to Fine Pitching

By Alan Gould.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—If pitching is at least 60 per cent of the major league pennant battles, as most of the game's sages insist, the St. Louis Cardinals and the world champion Detroit Tigers figure to hold an edge over all rivals this year.

The Cardinals had no excuse when they yielded to the closing rush of the Chicago Cubs last year but they have filled a pitching gap by acquiring Roy Parmelee. If the erratic former right-hander of the Giants steadies down, St. Louis is likely to show the best four-man staff in the National League, with the two Deans setting the pace and Bill Hallahan, veteran southpaw, rounding out the front-line quartet.

On the records, these four top the best in either major league. They collected 76 victories last season, two more than the "Big Four" of the Tigers, Bridges, Rowe, Anker and Crowder, and four more than the Cubs' melodious quartet of Wamke, Lee, French and Root.

The comparison in favor of St. Louis does not end here. All four Gard aces figure to do as well or better than in 1935 whereas the Tigers may have to worry about the aging soupbone of Alvin (General) Crowder while the Cubs face the possibility of furnishing relief for the elderly Charley Root.

The Boston Red Sox, New York Giants and New York Yankees, all entertaining pennant hopes, share a common pitching problem. Each has three fingers who can be depended upon for steady sharpshooting. Each has a number of eligibles for the vital No. 4 position on the staff but the big question won't be answered until later.

on Wes Ferrell and Lefty Grove as top men, with Johnny Marcum, a 17-game winner with the Athletics, another established quantity. The much-needed fourth may be Fred Ostermuller, the youthful southpaw, or Johnny Welch.

The Giants are optimistic of a come-back by first baseman, the old knuckle-baller, who cracked up last season, but Southpaw Al Smith may prove a better bet to round out a quartet with Rubbel, Schumacher and Castleman. There is also Harry Gumbert, the International League recruit, for Prof. Will Terry to consider carefully.

The Yankees hardly can get anywhere unless Lefty Gomez doubles his total of 12 victories scored last season. To work with the eminent southpaw, as well as big Charley Ruffing and bespectacled Johnny Brown, Manager Joe McCarthy can pick from veterans like Bump Hadley and Monte Pearson, or youngsters like Vito Tamulis and Johnny Murphy.

Rated on effectiveness, Pittsburgh had the top two fingers in the National League last year. Cy Blanton and Bill Swift, Brooklyn has taken conspicuous steps to bolster its hurling by getting Fred Frankhouse and Dutch Brandt from the Braves, to work with Van Mungo, George Earnshaw, Watson Clark and perhaps Dutch Leonard. The Dodgers, if they get results from this array, may be the surprise club of the league.

The Cards, Cubs and the Giants all bid unsuccessfully for Curt Davis, Cleveland acquired temperamental Johnny Allen who may prove just what the Indian staff needed to show consistent results, with Mel Harder pace-setting. The White Sox will be well equipped if Ted Lyons sustains his comeback and the two youthful sensations, John Whitehead and Vernon Kennedy, fulfill their 1935 promise.

Detroit has one of the likeliest rookie prospects in Rocky Lawson, who came up from Toledo last season to make a sensation debut. The Cubs believe they have a prospective starter in Fabian Kowalik, Buffalo product.

Jesse Haines, 42-year-old Cardinal warhorse, still is the oldest finger on any major league roster. Jack Betts of the Boston Beas and Tom Zachary of Brooklyn are each 38. Charley Root and Bob Smith of Boston, 37 each, George Barnshaw, Waite Hoyt of the Pirates and Fred Marberry of the Giants 36 each. William Jeffcoat, 18-year-old rookie from Richmond on the Giants' roster, is the youngest finger on the major list.

Sweden's Ski Team Keeps Olympic Lead

Finish with First Four Places in 50 Kilometer Run; U.S. Far Back

Garmisch-Partenkirchen.—(AP)—Sweden's long distance skiers swept the first four places in the 50 kilometer cross-country marathon of the fourth winter Olympics today.

Apparently able and ready to tour the course again, Elis Wiklund, Axel Wikstrom, Nils Englund and Hjalmar Bergstrom smilingly crossed the finish line in that order as America's team of four finished far behind.

Wiklund was timed in three hours, 30 minutes 11 seconds; Wikstrom in 3:35:20; Englund in 3:34:10 and Bergstrom in 3:35:50.

Karl Magnus Satre of Salisbury, Conn., led the American team of four in 3:58:45. Birger Torrisen of Norfolk, Conn., was clocked in 4:07:44; Nils Backstrom of Norfolk in 4:11:08, and Richard Parsons of Salisbury in 4:29:30.

Regents Order Dismissal Of Dr. Walter Meanwell And Dr. Clarence Spears

By E. L. Almen.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, athletic director, and Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach, storm centers of the University of Wisconsin's noisy athletic department, were ordered dismissed today, effective July 1, by the board of regents.

Order of the two doctors decreed to purge the department of discord, at the same time, apparently created a new problem.

The action was taken in defiance of a recommendation by the University Athletic Board, and a battle between the latter group and the regents, appeared in the making.

The Athletic Board had reported in recommending retention of the two men, that it believed that they would consider any other action "an invasion of its authority and tantamount to a denial of faculty control" of athletics. It insisted the main issue was whether athletics were to be controlled by the faculty, or be dictated by pressure groups outside the university, rather than the battle between Meanwell and Spears.

Dismissal of Dr. Meanwell precipitated the resignations of the four faculty members of the athletic board. The student member said he would also resign.

Three of the 11 members of the Board of Regents opposed Spears' removal. All voted that Meanwell be ousted.

Along with firing the two doctors, the regents ordered dismissal of William E. Sullivan, athletic director, and a general Western Conference investigation into intercollegiate athletics.

and out of the game, handling his team from the bench in such a way that the Titans kept themselves working smoothly most of the way.

The Pioneers, although they were the outstanding ball players on the Illinois team, participated in more of the rough work than any of the other boys. They seemed to be where things were happening, and not doing much about preventing some of the crashes that are bound to occur when ten players fly around the court.

The Illinois temperament didn't seem to get adjusted to the usual cleverness. The other members of the squad tossed the full offensive burden on the shoulders of the Fletcher boys, assisting as best they could in passing the ball to the two brothers, who did all of the work around the Illinois basket.

Break Up Play.

Wesleyan pulled its defense in around the basket, overmanning the territory to break up the clever work of these two lads. Illinois didn't attempt many long shots during the final quarter, and didn't ring the bell on any of the efforts.

Lambert, the only freshman on the regular squad, gave promise of becoming one of the stars of the college squad. He handled the ball well, kept his wit about him all the time, and continued to show improvement over the form he showed when he first played here this year.

There was just too much power in the Wesleyan line-up for Illinois as the squad now stands. The Wesleyan regulars, if there are any in the list of 16 players who saw action, whirled and passed with speed and accuracy. Wallace led the scoring with 12 points, and Cochran, his starting teammate as a forward, notched ten. Ruff, center, Benson and Hornberger, guards, were the other starters.

Illinois Wallops Wisconsin 36-20

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Illinois gave another exhibition of passing and shooting tonight to trounce Wisconsin, 36 to 20, for its fourth Big Ten basketball victory in seven games.

The Illini, who snapped out of a slump Monday by bowing Iowa over, 36 to 14, took the lead early in the first half and steadily added to its advantage. The Badgers led at 2 to 0, and 4 to 3, but after Harry Combes hooked in a field goal, failed to threaten again.

Combes, Bob Riegel and Wib Henry led the Illinois offense, while the passing and defensive work of Howie Braun was outstanding. Nick De Mark and Hod Poswell did the bulk of Wisconsin's scoring, accounting for 13 points between them. The defeat was Wisconsin's fourth in seven conference games.

Blueboy Swimmers Shut Out Wesleyan

Timke And Freeman Lower Conference Records In Two Events

Shutting Illinois Wesleyan out of first place in every event, Illinois College swimmers won the first indoor dual swimming meet in the history of the college here by a 51 to 24 score Saturday afternoon in the Illinois School for the Deaf pool.

Two existing conference records fell by the wayside as Ed Timke and Glenn Freeman both of Chicago streaked through the water to win their events. Timke lowered the record for the 220 yard free style set last year by Joe Juel, Illinois swimmer, when he splashed the distance in 2:38.1. Juel's former record was 2:40.

Freeman lowered the record set by J. J. of Illinois Wesleyan, last year, when he swam the 100 yard free style in 1:02.2. Ellis' mark was 1:02.9.

Unmindful of the drops of water choked up by the backstrokers, the large crowd rose to its feet during the 100 yard race to cheer for Allan Peterson, who churned his way to a narrow victory over Olney, of Wesleyan.

John Bunch took the fancy diving honors from Charley Altkonis, Wesleyan, with a splendid performance in the optional dives. Altkonis had the better of Bunch in the required dives, but Bunch overcame the handicap to win during the last five dives by a four point margin.

The Summary:

100 yard relay—won by Illinois College.

Americans

Garmisch-Partenkirchen.—(AP)—Ivan Brown and Alan Washbond of Keosauqua, N. Y., today won the Olympic two-man bob-sledding championship and with it America's first gold medal of the international winter games.

Brown and Washbond, the leaders after yesterday's first two heats, captured the title in a thrilling and dramatic duel of speed and skill with the Swiss sled piloted by Fritz Petermann.

Today's final two heats developed the most sensational tussle of the winter Olympics as the Americans finally won out by the razor-edge margin of 1.35 seconds in total elapsed time for four trips down the 1,600 meter Olympic chute.

Third place went to the second American combination of Dick Colgate, 37, of New York, and Gilbert Lawrence of Branchville, N. J.

America, retaining the title the Stevens Brothers, J. Hubert and Curtis, won at Lake Placid in 1932, thus picked up 14 points in the unofficial team standings to swell its total to 24½.

Brown and Washbond finished with total elapsed time of 5:29.29. Their individual heat clockings were 1:22.50, 1:21.02, 1:26.38 and 1:20.38. Petermann, who smashed his own chute record on his final descent with a spectacular 1:19.86 performance, wound up with total time of 5:30.64. Colgate and Lawrence finished with 5:33.96.

Chicago.—(AP)—They probably don't plan to go into the fight business together again, but Jack Dempsey and his ex-manager Jack Kearns at least were on speaking terms today after Dempsey's boy Clarence (Red) Burman demolished Kearns' Hank Bath in 10 rounds last night at the Chicago stadium.

Instead of the promised "battle of glares" as the former heavyweight champion seconded his young Baltimore prospect and Kearns was in the corner of his Port Morgan, Colo., he they shook hands and exchanged greetings. Since their split-up 13 years ago, the famous Jacks have had little or nothing to say to each other.

As they entered the ring Dempsey strode over to Bath's corner to grasp Kearns' hand and say "how's tricks, Doc?"

"O.K. Jack," Kearns answered. They posed for photographers with hands clasped and appeared to do it with a minimum of effort.

Burman won the decision in a bruising, if not particularly entertaining bout, largely due to a routing assault in the last four rounds. The 247-pounder, who had cheered lustily as the old mauler and his former mentor exchanged greetings, remained to boo and jeer and the youngsters just as earnestly.

Burman weighed 178½ pounds to Bath's 184.

Sweden's Ski Team Keeps Olympic Lead

Finish with First Four Places in 50 Kilometer Run;
U.S. Far Back

Garmisch-Partenkirchen.—(AP)—Sweden's long distance skiers won the first four places in the 50 kilometer cross-country marathon of the fourth winter Olympics today.

Apparently able and ready to tour the course again, Ellis Viklund, Axel Wikstrom, Nils Englund and Hjalmar Bergstrom smilingly crossed the finish line in that order as America's team of four finished far behind.

Viklund was timed in three hours, 30 minutes 11 seconds; Wikstrom in 3:33:20; Englund in 3:34:10 and Bergstrom in 3:36:40.

Karl Magnus Satrie of Salisbury, Conn., led the American team of four in 3:58:45. Birger Torrisen of Norfolk, Conn. was clocked in 4:07:44; Nils Backstrom of Norfolk in 4:11:08, and Richard Parsons of Salisbury in 4:23:30.

Regents Order Dismissal Of Dr. Walter Meanwell And Dr. Clarence Spears

By E. L. Almen.
Associated Press Staff Writer.
Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, athletic director, and Dr. Clarence W. Spears, head football coach, storm centers of the University of Wisconsin's noisy athletic department, were ordered dismissed today, effective July 1, by the board of regents.

Ouster of the two doctors decreed to purge the department of discord, at the same time, apparently created a new problem.

The action was taken in defiance of a recommendation by the University Athletic Board, and a battle between the latter group and the regents, appeared in the making.

The Athletic Board had reported in recommending retention of Meanwell and dismissal of Spears, that it would consider any other action "an invasion of its authority and tantamount to a denial of faculty control" of athletics. It insisted the main issue was whether athletics were to be controlled by the faculty, or be dictated by pressure groups outside the university, rather than the battle between Meanwell and Spears.

Dismissal of Dr. Meanwell precipitated the resignations of the four faculty members of the athletic board. The student member said he also would resign.

Three of the 11 members of the Board of Regents opposed Spears' removal. All voted that Meanwell be ousted.

Along with firing the two doctors, the regents ordered dismissal of Trainer William (Billy) Fallon, and urged a general Western Conference investigation into intercollegiate athletic and out of the game, handling his team from the bench in such a way that the Titans kept themselves working smoothly most of the way.

The Fletchers, all though they were the outstanding ball players on the Illinois team, participated in more of the rough work than any of the other boys. They seemed to be where things were happening, and not doing much about preventing some of the crashes that are bound to occur when ten players fly around the court. The Illinois temperament didn't seem to get adjusted to its usual cleverness. The other members of the squad tossed the full of offensive burden on the shoulders of the Fletcher boys, assisting as best they could in passing the ball to the two brothers, who did all of the work around the Illinois basket.

Wesleyan pulled its defense in around the basket overmanning the territory to break up the clever work of these two lads. Illinois didn't attempt many long shots during the final quarter, and didn't ring the bell on any of the efforts.

Lambert, the only freshman on the regular squad, gave promise of becoming one of the stars of the college squad. He handled the ball well, kept his wits about him all the time, and continued to show improvement over the form he showed when he first played here this year.

There was just too much power in the Wesleyan line-up for Illinois as the squad now stands. The Wesleyan regulars, if there are any in the list of 16 players who saw action, whirled and passed with speed and accuracy.

Wallace led the scoring with 12 points, and Cochran, his starting team-mate as a forward, notched ten. Ruff, center, Benson and Horenberger, guards, were the other starters.

Illinois Wallops Wisconsin 36-20

Champaign, Ill., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Illinois gave another exhibition of passing and shooting tonight to trounce Wisconsin, 36 to 20, for its fourth Big Ten basketball victory in seven games.

The Illini, who snapped out of a slump Monday by bowling Iowa over, 36 to 14, took the lead early in the first half and steadily added to its advantage. The Badgers led at 2 to 0, and 4 to 3, but after Harry Combes hooked in a field goal, failed to threaten again.

Combes, Bob Riegel and Wib Henry led the Illinois offense, while the passing and defensive work of Howie Braun was outstanding. Nick De Mark and Hod Powell did the bulk of Wisconsin's scoring, accounting for 13 points between them. The defeat was Wisconsin's fourth in seven conference games.

American Pair Wins Bob Sledding Title

Capture First Gold Medals in Winter Games for Americans

Garmisch-Partenkirchen.—(AP)—Ivan Brown and Alan Washbond of Keene Valley, N. Y., today won the Olympic two-man bob-sledding championship and with it America's first gold medal of the international winter games.

Brown and Washbond, the leaders after yesterday's first two heats, captured the title in a thrilling and dramatic duel of speed and skill with the Swiss sled piloted by Fritz Peterabend.

Today's final two heats developed the most sensational tussle of the winter Olympics as the Americans finally won out by the razor-edge margin of 1.35 seconds in total elapsed time for four trips down the 1,600 meter Olympic chute.

Third place went to the second American combination of Gilbert Colgate, Jr., of New York, and Dick Lawrence of Branchville, N. J.

America, retaining the title the Stevens Brothers, J. Hubert and Curtis, won at Lake Placid in 1932, thus picked up 14 points in the unofficial team standings to swell its total to 29½.

Brown and Washbond finished with total elapsed time of 8:29.29. Their individual heat clockings were 1:22.50, 1:21.02, 1:23.35 and 1:20.38. Peterabend, who smashed his own chute record on his final descent with a spectacular 1:19.88 performance wound up with total time of 5:30.64. Colgate and Lawrence finished with 5:35.96.

Dempsey's Fighter Beats Kearns' Boy

Battle of Glares Fails to Develop as Scrappers
Furnish Fun

Chicago.—(AP)—They probably don't plan to go into the fight business together again, but Jack Dempsey and his ex-manager Jack Kearns at least were on speaking terms today after Dempsey's boy Clarence (Red) Burman decisively knocked Hank Bath in 10 rounds last night at the Chicago stadium.

Instead of the promised "battle of glares" as the former heavyweight champion seconded his young Baltimore prospect and Kearns was in the corner of his Fort Morgan, Colo., hope, they shook hands and exchanged greetings. Since their split-up 13 years ago, the famous Jacks have had little or nothing to say to each other.

As they entered the ring Dempsey strode over to Bath's corner to grasp Kearns' hand and say "how's tricks, Doc?"

"O.K. Jack," Kearns answered. They posed for photographers with hands clasped and appeared to do it with a minimum of effort.

Burman won the decision in a bruising, if not particularly entertaining bout, largely due to a rousing assault in the last four rounds. The 9,347 spectators, who had cheered lustily as the old mauler and his former mentor exchanged greetings, remained to boo and jeer and the youngsters just as earnestly.

Burman weighed 178½ pounds to Bath's 184 for Bath.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davenport of the Orleans neighborhood were in the city yesterday.

Blueboy Swimmers Shut Out Wesleyan

Timke And Freeman Lower
Conference Records
In Two Events

Shutting Illinois Wesleyan out of first place in every event, Illinois College swimmers won the first indoor dual swimming meet in the history of the college here by a 51 to 24 score Saturday afternoon in the Illinois School for the Deaf pool.

Two existing conference records fell by the wayside as Ed Timke and Glenn Freeman both of Chicago streaked through the water to win their events. Timke lowered the record for the 220 yard free style set last year by Joe Juel, Illinois swimmer, when he splashed the distance in 2:38.1. Juel's former record was 2:40.

Freeman lowered the record set by Ellis, of Illinois Wesleyan, last year when he swam the 100 yard free style in 1:02.2. Ellis' mark was 1:02.9. Unmindful of the drops of water kicked up by the backstrokers, the large crowd rose to its feet during the 100 yard race to cheer for Allan Patterson, who churned his way to a narrow victory over Olney, of Wesleyan.

John Bunch took the fancy diving honors from Charley Alkonis, Wesleyan, with a splendid performance in the optional dives. Alkonis had the better of Bunch in the required dives, but Bunch overcame the handicap to win during the last five dives by a four point margin.

The Summaries:

100 yard relay—won by Illinois College (Bennett, Timke, Freeman, Stucka); Wesleyan second. Time 1:23.

100 yard breast—won by Koravec (I. C.); Keller, Wesleyan, second; Hammer, I. C. third. Time—1:20.
40 yard free style—won by Stucka, I. C.; Bennett, I. C., second; Freese, Wesleyan, third. Time 20.2 seconds.
220 yard free style—won by Timke, I. C.; Ellis, Wesleyan, second; Bunch, I. C. third. Time 2:38.1 (New Record, former record of 2:40, set by Joe Juel, Illinois College, 1935).

100 yard backstroke—won by Patterson, I. C.; Olney, Wesleyan, second; Kalleaux, I. C. third. Time 1:19.2.

Water Department Rushes Repair of Big Leak in Main

Work of finding and repairing a heavy leak in the water main at the corner of North Main street and Lafayette avenue was rushed yesterday afternoon and last night. George Stoldt, city water plant manager, said yesterday. It was necessary to shut off some large industrial consumers in order to work on the main.

The leak was located under the pavement at the intersection. Work on the main went forward Friday afternoon and Saturday.

Digging on water lines reveals the ground to be frozen at depths of 26 inches to three feet. One or two city fire hydrants have been found frozen, but otherwise there has been no freezing of the mains. But large numbers of individual water services in the city have been frozen and are having to be thawed out.

A new machine is being used successfully in this work. It is an electric apparatus that passes a current thru the frozen pipes and melts the ice. Yesterday this machine thawed out a service in 24 minutes.

Valentine Massacre Repeated

Chicago — (AP) — Dapper machine gun Jack McGurn, former Capone gangster, today received a comic valentine and two shots in the back of the head, killing him in much the same fashion as seven George "Bugs" Morgan gangsters died seven years ago in the bloody St. Valentine's Day massacre of which he was accused.

He "beat the rap" on the massacre charge by producing the now famous "blonde alibi," who later became his wife. She testified that she and McGurn were in a hotel just south of the loop.

The gangster's death came with the same dramatic suddenness as did the massacre of the Moran men. While McGurn and two unidentified companions sat in a second floor bowling alley at 808 Milwaukee Ave., on the near northwest side awaiting their turn, two men entered the place and ordered "stick 'em up. Stand where you are."

McGurn, his back to the men, stood erect. Without another word, the pair opened fire with .45 caliber pistols. One shot struck McGurn just behind the right ear and the other in the lower part of the neck.

The widow was brought in from her home in suburban Oak Park for questioning a few hours after the slaying, but the police said she could give no information as to who might have slain her husband or why.

She said she had received an anonymous telephone call early this morning telling her "something has happened to Jack."

She told officers that lately McGurn had been operating a "book," or horse race betting office, in suburban Melrose Park.

She also said McGurn did not have a cent of life insurance and no bank account. She declared she was penniless and that the only money they had to their names was the $3.85 found in the slain hoodlum's pockets.

William Aloisio, who said he was the owner of the bowling alleys, told the police McGurn was a regular customer of the place and had entered 15 minutes before he was shot down. Aloisio said when the gunmen entered he was sitting on a billiard table and ducked underneath when the shooting began.

Two men walked within 15 or 25 feet of McGurn and fired at him while his back was turned. The owner of the alleys said several shots were fired, but the owner's first report said McGurn was shot once behind the right ear and again in the lower part of his neck.

The police found two discharged .45 caliber shells on the floor. Nearby was a hole apparently made by another shot.

Aloisio said there were about 30 persons in the place at the time but none of them had fled before the authorities arrived.

Tramped on the floor near the spot where McGurn fell, they found a comic valentine addressed to McGurn. The police said they were not sure whether the slayers dropped it as they fled or whether the slain gunman had received it earlier and discarded it.

After McGurn fell, Aloisio said the hoodlum's companions, neither of whom was known to him, leisurely straightened out the body. They walked over to the bowling score sheet, tore off the page on which their names were entered and took it with them as they left.

Another crumpled valentine lay on the floor near where they had been sitting. It was addressed to "Willie De Grazio." The missive inside had been torn up. The police sought to learn whether DeGrazio might have been one of McGurn's companions.

He said the two men, walked within 15 or 25 feet of McGurn and fired at him while his back was turned. The owner of the alley said several shots were fired, but the coroner's first report said McGurn was shot once behind the right ear and again in the lower part of his neck.

The police found two discharged 45 caliber shells on the floor. Nearby was a hole apparently made by another shot.

Aloisio said there were about 20 persons in the place at the time but most of them had fled before the authorities arrived.

Tramped on the floor near the spot where McGurn fell, they found a comic valentine addressed to McGurn. The police said they were not sure whether the slayers dropped it as they fled or whether the slain gunman had received it earlier and discarded it.

After McGurn fell, Aloisio said the hoodlums' companions, neither of whom was known to him, leisurely straightened out the body. They walked over to the bowling score sheet, tore off the page on which their names were entered and took with them as they left.

Another crumpled valentine lay on the floor near where they had been sitting. It was addressed to "Willie De Grado." The mistle inside had been torn up. The police sought to learn whether DeGrado might have been one of McGurn's companions.

Valentine Massacre Repeated

Two Men Open Fire on Man
Accused of Slaying Seven Years Ago; Find Valentines
on Bowling Alley Floor.

IS SHOT FROM BEHIND

Chicago — (AP) — Dapper machine gun Jack McGurn, former Capone gangster, today received a comic valentine and two shots in the back of the head, killing him in much the same fashion as seven George "Bugs" Morgan gangsters died seven years ago in the bloody St. Valentine's Day massacre of which he was accused.

He "beat the rap" on the massacre charge by producing the now famous "blonde ally," who later became his wife. She testified that she and McGurn were in a hotel just south of the loop.

The gangster's death came with the same dramatic suddenness as did the massacre of the Moran men. While McGurn and two unidentified companions sat in a second floor bowling alley at 805 Milwaukee Ave., on the near northwest side awaiting their turn, two men entered the place and ordered "stick 'em up. Stand where you are."

McGurn, his back to the men, stood erect. Without another word, the pair opened fire with 45 caliber pistols. One shot struck McGurn just behind the right ear and the other in the lower part of his neck.

The widow was brought in from her home in suburban Oak Park for questioning a few hours after the slaying, but the police said she could give no information as to who might have slain her husband or why.

She said she had received an anonymous telephone call early this morning telling her "something has happened to Jack."

She told officers that lately McGurn had been operating a "book," or horse race betting office, in suburban Melrose Park.

She also said McGurn did not have a cent of life insurance, and no bank account. She declared she was penniless and that the only money they had to their names was the $3.85 found in the slain hoodlum's pockets.

William Aloisio, who said he was the owner of the bowling alleys, told the police McGurn was a regular customer of the place and had entered 15 minutes before he was shot down. Aloisio said when the gunmen entered he was sitting on a billiard table and ducked underneath when the shooting began.

He said the two men, walked within 15 or 25 feet of McGurn and fired at him while his back was turned. The owner of the alley said several shots were fired, but the coroner's first report said McGurn was shot once behind the right ear and again in the lower part of his neck.

The police found two discharged 45 caliber shells on the floor. Nearby was a hole apparently made by another shot.

Wheat Prices Sag
As Market Closes

By John F. Boughman,

Associated Press Market Editor.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Notwithstanding that no relief from extreme cold is in sight, wheat values sagged at the last today, most traders being inclined to await crop developments.

The traditional test of actual crop damage is what experts call "growing weather," a stage which settles definitely that wheat does or does not possess power to grow. Although turnups of quotations based on crop damage reports from the southeast carried the market at times to above yesterday's top level, the gains were afterward more than overcome, largely because of speculative demand lacked volume pending more specific information about the condition of the domestic wheat crop as a whole.

Wheat closed easy at the same as yesterday's finish to 1 cent lower.

May 981-1, corn 1-1 off, May 611-1, oats 1-1 decline to an equal advance, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents down.

With sub-zero temperatures prevailing over Kansas, unofficial crop damage reports poured in from the western part of the state, as well as from the Oklahoma Panhandle and northern Texas. Dispatches said dust storms in those sections were significant of the dryness there and of the approach of the windy weather period characteristic of the dust bowl region. One observer reported the blows had completely destroyed some wheat that looked good until a week ago, the fields having been cut clean even with the ground, as if by a knife.

Higher Prices In
N. Y. Stock Market

By Frank MacMillan

New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A hesitant stock market today was thumped into life by a last minute expansion in steels, rails and several of the non-ferrous metals.

Higher prices, some of them the best in several years, snapped the volume for the short session to 1,873-

795 shares, a bit more than the previous Saturday and substantially better than the hourly rate for Friday.

The Associated Press average of 6

Comrades in Disappointment

Herecuen Indisputable, huge St. Bernard, discovered that a little boy was a dog's best friend when he was passed over and another selected best of breed at the Westminster Kennel Club show in New York. Three-year-old Thomas Sarter of Brooklyn looks as mournful as Hercuen himself over the tragic end of their championship hopes and assured the big barker that he really ought to have won.

WAVERLY

Waverly—Rev. D. K. Saylor, Rev. Curwen Henley, R. B. Sheddley, and Howard Morris went to Mt. Sterling Wednesday where they attended a district laymen's meeting of the M. E. church.

Among those from out of town who were here Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. John Turner were Mr. and Mrs. George Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Marsh, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mann, and Vivian Mann, of Riverton; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Mann, of of Pekin; Ed McClanahan and daughter Elsie of Springfield, and Mrs. Lula Littleton and son Hal of Woodriver.

Miss Josephine Stockdale entered St. John's hospital in Springfield on Wednesday for treatment.

Mrs. Eva Morris of Mattoon visited recently at the home of her son, C. Morris.

Pet dogs must be black or gray in color to satisfy the "smart" women in Paris, and the dogs wear little coats to match their owner's ensemble.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON loses her job when the magazine where she works as typist suspends publication. In place of the salary due her, she accepts a ticket for a three weeks' ocean cruise. Jane, who has long dreamed of such a trip, is thrilled. Though she has no money and no prospects of a job on her return, she determines to forget all this and, for three weeks, enjoy herself. As the ship sails down the bay she sees a handsome young man and recognizes him as the same one she had encountered the day before outside the steamship company office. He tells her he is from California, has recently been skating at Lake Placid. Jane decides to conceal the fact that she is merely an unemployed typist.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER IV

THREE times Jane and the blond young man circled the promenade deck of the S. S. Oceanic. They passed the Florentine room where people were already having gayly-colored drinks. They entered the lavishly appointed Room where people were splashing about in the bluish water of the pool. As they looked on, he said: "Your name is Jane Weston, isn't it?" "You wouldn't tell me, but I saw it on the deckchair reserved for you. I'm Dirk Strom, and I'm going to have the steward reserve my chair next to yours for the voyage. Do you mind?"

Jane was secretly glad, because after a few moments of his awkward self-revelation she trusted him implicitly. No man with an eye as clear as his could mean any harm to her.

But she said, with reserve, shaking a finger at him: "You work too fast, Dirk Strom. But I guess it's all right." Then she laughed, for she couldn't bear to see the sudden hurt look in his eyes. "Now that we've met, let's go up to the lounge and see that gorgeous dancing salon. Oh, I've looked forward to this cruise!"

"You do dance?" he said eagerly.

Her answer was like a joyous cry. "Dance!"

"Tonight?" he said eagerly. "Will you go to the dance with me tonight?"

She gave Dirk her best smile, and though she would have liked to go to that ball with him more than anything else in the world just now, she replied: "No, I'm going to get some rest tonight. I'm a little tired. Tense. I came on this cruise—just like that. Getting things ready has worn me out. But perhaps—tomorrow night."

"I'm sorry," he said. "I only thought, dancing, I could get to know you better, find out all those things one wants to know."

She smiled her best, for she couldn't see him hurt. "All right, ask me. What do you want to know?"

"Oh, what you do in that crazy place, the city. It gives me the jumps. I'm used to the wide, open spaces. Who you are, what things you like, what your ambition is."

"But that takes time," she said gaily. "You can't pry out all the secrets of a girl's soul in a single session. For a starter I'll tell you just one thing. My ambition is to have a good time and enjoy life—on this cruise. After that well—" She smiled. "You

JANE looked around and saw a man, almost bald, with cheeks like fat fowls. He was smiling and trying to wiggle through the mass to them.

"There are a lot of strange types on board," Dirk put in. "I've been watching them since we sailed. But I suppose a bit of the cruise ship is like the city—you've got to take 'em—all kinds. But from this minute on, you've got somebody to look after you. If any of them annoy you, just let me know."

M. F. Dunlap May Be Released From Prison In Month If Fine Paid

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Millard F. Dunlap, 78-year old president of the defunct Ayers National Bank at Jacksonville, Ill., now serving a two-year penitentiary sentence, will be eligible for release a month from today if he pays the $10,000 fine assessed against him.

Dunlap's accumulated good time—six days for each month he has served—makes him eligible for release March 16, the department of justice announced today. He began his sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary after being convicted of grand larceny in federal court at Springfield, Mo., where he is now confined.

If he does not pay the $10,000 fine he can obtain his release by serving an additional 30 days and taking what is known as the "poor convict's oath."

Once treasurer of the National Democratic committee, Dunlap was convicted in federal court at Springfield along with Andrew Russell, former Republican state treasurer and state auditor, in connection with the failure of the Ayers National Bank, one of the largest downstate financial institutions. Russell died in prison while efforts to obtain a pardon were underway.

Several unsuccessful efforts to obtain a pardon for Dunlap have been made. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, United States minister to Denmark and daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, interested herself in Dunlap's behalf. He and her father were political associates and personal friends.

Mrs. English also called the meeting to order, acting as honorary president in place of the active officer, Miss Carolyn Gay Traft. Following this, Miss Mahala McGeehee played the "Star Spangled Banner" as the colors were advanced by the Mesdames Babb and Slick. The flag chairman, Mrs. Lewis Sims, then led the pledge to the flag.

In the business session, the chapter voted to send five dollars to the State's Real Daughters' fund and a like amount to the Mountain schools sponsored by the national society. Mrs. Carl E. Robinson reported that the flag staff and holder were ready for presentation to David Prince Junior high school during their Washington celebration exercises.

Mrs. Henry W. English was appointed by the president as a delegate in her stead to the Associate Council to be held in Washington, D. C., April 26-29, and Mrs. M. S. Zachary as alternate.

At this time tributes were read to William Henry Harrison, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. These tributes, the decorations of the meeting room and the nature of the program were a fitting celebration of the birth month of so many of the nation's great men.

"We Of Today," the address by Mrs. English, was a colorful and strong picture of woman's place in the history and future events of the nation. Early in her remarks she cited the quotation of Theodore Roosevelt, "Women are the latent power of the nation. Into women's keeping is committed the destiny of the generations to come after us."

Feminine Influence
She pointed out the first feminine influence in America was the financing of Columbus by that far seeing royal Castilian, Isabella. Mary, the mother of Washington, was exemplified as the perfect example of home life.

Mrs. English continued, "Let us feel that women have had a real and vital part in the making of this nation in spite of such remarks as those made by James G. Blaine when he said, 'men settled and built this country; men struggled and labored, these good men were the progenitors of a great race.' And when Judge Horace of Massachusetts in the national Republican convention in 1860 completely annihilated women by saying, 'The American people are gentlemen.' I claim the women of the race were quite as essential as the men and I trust that We Of Today may rightly claim that the American people are gentlemen and Gentlemen."

The speaker expressed the aspiration of making Illinois the brightest star in the national constellation, concluding, "May We Of Today hold aloft the standard of America's Women, keep it unsullied and bright and keep the Star Spangled Banner waving over the land of the free and the home of noble women."

Following the program, a most enjoyable social hour was spent, with Mrs. E. Will Babb charmingly presiding over the tea table.

During the meeting a clipping from an Associated Press report was read concerning the "last War of 1812 widow," Mrs. Lydia Ann Graham, widow of a man who marched as a boy musician in the war with England more than a century ago. She lives in a little cabin on Brushy Run, 15 miles from Franklin, West Virginia. She received $50 each month, makes her own clothes, carries her own fuel, and trims the wicks in her old-fashioned lamps.

She is now more than 90 years of age, her pension beginning in 1861 at eight dollars and gradually increasing to the present amount.

The next meeting of the society will be March 21 at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Jean King Lane as hostess, at the American Legion Home, J. Chester Colton will be the speaker on the program.

SANGAMON ATTORNEY TO BE SPEAKER AT CHOW CLUB MEETING

C. J. Dowie, Springfield attorney, and former secretary of state, will be the speaker at the local Chow club meeting at the American Legion Home here next Tuesday night. Mr. Dowie is well known in Jacksonville and has on numerous occasions been a speaker in the city. It is expected that a large number of Chow club members will attend the meeting.

CONDITION IS IMPROVED
Arthur Burns, a former resident of Jacksonville who has been quite ill at his home near Beverly, Ill., is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Richardson of Louisville were callers in the city yesterday.

Autoist Narrowly Escapes Death As Train Strikes Car

Auto Hit At Church Street Crossing Is Carried Nearly Mile Down Track

Sam Traub, of this city, narrowly escaped death about midnight last night when his automobile was struck by a Wabash freight train at the North Church street crossing. The automobile was carried on the pilot of the engine for almost a mile before it fell to the side of the tracks into a ditch.

Mr. Traub, who is one of the proprietors of the Mace's Drug Store, had just closed his place of business. When he went to enter his car he could not get it started because of the frigid weather and his partner in business, M. H. Boss, started to push the Traub car with his own automobile. The two cars proceeded down West Court street to Church street and then turned north. As they started to cross the railroad tracks they heard a train approaching.

The engine was on them in a moment and Traub leaped from his automobile while Boss backed away from the tracks.

Traub made an effort to push his car from the tracks but had to give up when the engine bore down on him. The engine struck the automobile squarely, picked it up on the pilot and carried it to a spot between Caldwell and Sandusky streets before it became dislodged and toppled over into the ditch.

While the right side of the car was badly caved in, the windshield did not break and several windows in the car were unbroken. The automobile, however, was badly wrecked and was towed into a local garage.

The train Extra 2702 Westbound was in charge of Conductor Ed Walsh, Engineer Harry Phillips and Fireman C. E. Hill.

The engine men noticed the Boss car when they passed the Church street crossing, but did not know they had hit the Traub car until they had gone considerable distance.

The switch standard near the Capps siding at Fayette street was broken off when the automobile struck it.

Chief of Police Frank Kiloran, with Captain Earl Williams and Patrolmen Albert Spreen and Sam Harris, answered a call sent to the police station.

These books were well received, but Hindus really sprang to fame in 1929 with the publication of "Humanity Unproven," which immediately reached the non-fiction best seller list and stayed there for months.

He has since published "Red Bread," a study of the forced collectivization of the Russian farms and the extermination of the Kulak class, the more prosperous farmers of the country. This work, published in 1931, was a best seller, as was "The Great Offense," dealing with the famous Five Year Plan for Russian industry, which appeared in 1933.

Mr. Hindus books have had an enthusiastic reception in this country because the author turned his attention to the accurate reporting of facts, and especially human facts and because he was able to resist the tendency to propaganda which has marred the writings of so many travelers to Russia.

For years he has been a well known figure on the American lecture platform, speaking before institutions as varied as the U. S. Naval Academy, Vassar College, the Foreign Policy Association, the Junior League of New York, and the Army War College at Washington.

The Institute program is beginning to attract attention over a wide area. Saturday morning work was received at MacMurray that two professors of Black College are planning to attend and expect to bring a number of students with them from Carlinville.

As the college has a greatly increased enrollment this year there will be a good many fewer seats available for the public at the dinner meeting, and the authorities are recommending that those who wish to hear Mr. Hindus send in their reservations early.

Authority On Russia To Address Institute At MacMurray

The people of Jacksonville will have an unusual opportunity to inform themselves on the strained situation existing between Russia and Japan in Eastern Asia when Maurice Hindus delivers his address on that subject before the MacMurray Institute on the evening of Tuesday, February 25.

This lecture, which will be the grand finale of the "Institute on Problems of the Pacific," will be given in McClelland Dining Hall to those assembled for the annual Institute dinner.

Mr. Hindus is among the best known of American students of Russian affairs. He was born in Russia of Russian parents, but emigrated to the United States at the age of fourteen not long before the World War broke out.

Here he received his education from Colgate College, in New York, and from Harvard University. Russian history and Russian literature formed his special fields in his university work. Soon after his graduation he was able to bring them to bear practically in first-hand study of that troubled country. In 1919 he made the first of more than a dozen trips to Russia, where his knowledge of the language and institutions gave him an inside track in the study and interpretation of the revolutionary society emerging from there.

In 1920 the first of his books, "The Russian Peasant and the Russian Revolution," was published. It was followed in 1926 by "Broken Earth."

Books Well Received.
These books were well received, but Hindus really sprang to fame in 1929 with the publication of "Humanity Unproven," which immediately reached the non-fiction best seller list and stayed there for months.

He has since published "Red Bread," a study of the forced collectivization of the Russian farms and the extermination of the Kulak class, the more prosperous farmers of the country. This work, published in 1931, was a best seller, as was "The Great Offense," dealing with the famous Five Year Plan for Russian industry, which appeared in 1933.

Mr. Hindus books have had an enthusiastic reception in this country because the author turned his attention to the accurate reporting of facts, and especially human facts and because he was able to resist the tendency to propaganda which has marred the writings of so many travelers to Russia.

For years he has been a well known figure on the American lecture platform, speaking before institutions as varied as the U. S. Naval Academy, Vassar College, the Foreign Policy Association, the Junior League of New York, and the Army War College at Washington.

The Institute program is beginning to attract attention over a wide area. Saturday morning work was received at MacMurray that two professors of Black College are planning to attend and expect to bring a number of students with them from Carlinville.

As the college has a greatly increased enrollment this year there will be a good many fewer seats available for the public at the dinner meeting, and the authorities are recommending that those who wish to hear Mr. Hindus send in their reservations early.

M. F. Dunlap May Be Released From Prison In Month If Fine Paid

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Millard F. Dunlap, 78-year old president of the defunct Ayers National Bank at Jacksonville, Ill., now serving a two-year penitentiary sentence, will be eligible for release a month from today if he pays the $10,000 fine assessed against him.

Dunlap's accumulated good time—six days for each month he has served—makes him eligible for release March 16, the department of justice announced today. He began his sentence at Leavenworth penitentiary but later was transferred to the federal hospital at Springfield, Mo., where he is now confined.

If he does not pay the $10,000 fine he can obtain his release by serving an additional 30 days and taking what is known as the "poor convict's oath."

Once treasurer of the National Democratic committee, Dunlap was convicted in federal court at Springfield along with Andrew Russell, former Republican state treasurer and state auditor, in connection with the failure of the Ayers National Bank, one of the largest downstate financial institutions. Russell died in prison while efforts to obtain a pardon were underway.

Several unsuccessful efforts to obtain a pardon for Dunlap have been made. Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, United States minister to Denmark and daughter of the late William Jennings Bryan, interested herself in Dunlap's behalf. He and her father were political associates and personal friends.

In their absence, Mrs. Henry William English was asked to deliver the address she gave to the Sangamon chapter in Springfield recently. "We Of Today."

Mrs. English also called the meeting to order, acting as honorary president in place of the active officer, Miss Carolyn Gay Taft. Following this Miss Mahala McGeehee played the "Star Spangled Banner" as the colors were advanced by the Mesdames Babb and Stice. The flag chairman, Mrs. Lewis Sims, then led the pledge to the flag.

In the business session, the chapter voted to send five dollars to the State's Real Daughters' fund and a like amount to the Mountain schools sponsored by the national society. Mrs. Carl E. Robinson reported that the flag staff and holder were ready for presentation to David Prince Junior high school during their Washington celebration exercises.

Mrs. Henry W. English was appointed by the president as a delegate in her stead to the Associate Council to be held in Washington, D. C., April 26-29, and Mrs. M. S. Zachary as alternate.

At this time tributes were read to William Henry Harrison, George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. These sentiments, the decorations of the meeting room and the nature of the program were a fitting celebration of the birth month of so many of the nation's great men.

"We Of Today," the address by Mrs. English, was a colorful and strong picture of woman's place in the history and future events of the nation. Early in her remarks she cited the quotation of Theodore Roosevelt: "Women are the latent power of the nation. Into women's keeping is committed the destiny of the generations to come after us."

Feminine Influence
She pointed out the first feminine influence in America was the financing of Columbus by that far seeing royal Castilian, Isabella. Mary, the mother of Washington, was exemplified as the perfect example of home life.

Mrs. English continued, "Let us feel that women have had a real and vital part in the making of this nation in spite of such remarks as those made by James G. Blaine when he said, 'men settled and built this country, men struggled and labored, these good men were the progenitors of a great race.' And when Judge Hoar of Massachusetts in the national Republican convention in 1880 completely annihilated women by saying, 'The American people are gentlemen.' I claim the women of the race were quite as essential as the men and I trust that we of today may rightly claim that the 'American people are gentlemen and Gentlemen!'"

The speaker expressed the aspiration of making Illinois the brightest star in the national constellation, concluding, "May We Of Today hold aloft the standard of America's Women, keep it unsullied and bright and keep the Star Spangled Banner waving over the land of the free and the home of noble women."

Following the program, a most enjoyable social hour was spent, with Mrs. S. Will Babb charmingly presiding over the tea table.

During the meeting a clipping from an Associated Press report was read concerning the "last war of 1812 widow," Mrs. Lydia Ann Graham, widow of a man who marched as a boy musician in the war with England more than a century ago. She lives in a little cabin on Brushy Run, 15 miles from Franklin, West Virginia. She received $50 each month, makes her own clothes, carries her own fuel, and trans the wicks in her old-fashioned lamps.

She is now more than 96 years of age, her pension beginning in 1861 at eight dollars and gradually increasing to the present amount.

The next meeting of the society will be March 21 at 2:30 p. m. with Mrs. Jean King Lane as hostess, at the American Legion Home. J. Chester Colton will be the speaker on the program.

SANGAMON ATTORNEY TO BE SPEAKER AT CHOW CLUB MEETING

C. J. Doyle, Springfield attorney and former secretary of state, will be the speaker at the local Chow club meeting at the American Legion Home here next Tuesday night. Mr. Doyle is well known in Jacksonville and has on numerous occasions been a speaker in the city. It is expected that a large number of Chow club members will attend the meeting.

Autoist Narrowly Escapes Death As Train Strikes Car

Auto Hit At Church Street Crossing Is Carried Nearly Mile Down Track

Sam Traub, of this city, narrowly escaped death about midnight last night when his automobile was struck by a Washash freight train at the North Church street crossing. The automobile was carried on the pilot of the engine for almost a mile before it fell to the side of the tracks into a ditch.

Mr. Traub, who is one of the proprietors of the Mace's Drug Store, had just closed his place of business. When he went to enter his car he could not get it started because of the frigid weather and his partner in business, M. H. Boss, started to push the Traub car with his own automobile.

The two cars proceeded down West Court street to Church street and then turned north. As they started to cross the railroad tracks they heard a train approaching. The engine was on them in a moment and Traub leaped from his automobile while Boss backed away from the tracks.

Traub made an effort to push his car from the tracks but had to give up when the engine bore down on him. The engine struck the automobile squarely, picked it up on the pilot and carried it to a spot between Caldwell and Sandusky streets before it became dislodged and tumbled over into the ditch.

While the right side of the car was badly caved in, the windshield did not break and several windows in the car were unbroken. The automobile, however, was badly wrecked and was towed into a local garage.

The train Extra 2702 Westbound was in charge of Conductor Ed Walsh, Engineer Harry Phillips and Fireman C. E. Hill.

The engine men noticed the Boss car when they passed the Church street crossing, but did not know they had hit the Traub car until they had gone considerable distance.

The switch standard near the Cappe siding at Fayette street was broken off when the automobile struck it.

Chief of Police Frank Kiloran with Captain Earl Williams and Patrolmen Albert Spreen and Sam Harris, answered a call sent to the police station.

Russo-Jap Clash Feature Of Meet Here On Feb. 25th

Authority On Russia To Address Institute At MacMurray

The people of Jacksonville will have an unusual opportunity to inform themselves on the strained situation existing between Russia and Japan in Eastern Asia when Maurice Hindus delivers his address on that subject before the MacMurray Institute on the evening of Tuesday, February 25. This lecture, which will be the grand finale of the "Institute on Problems of the Pacific," will be given in McClelland Dining Hall to those assembled for the annual Institute dinner.

Mr. Hindus is among the best known of American students of Russian affairs. He was born in Russia of Russian parents, but emigrated to the United States at the age of fourteen not long before the World War broke out.

Here he received his education from Colgate College, in New York, and from Harvard University. Russian history and Russian literature formed his special fields in his university work. Soon after his graduation he was able to bring them to bear practically in first-hand study of that troubled country. In 1919 he made the first of more than a dozen trips to Russia, where his knowledge of the language and institutions gave him an inside track in the study and interpretation of the revolutionary society emerging there.

In 1920 the first of his books, "The Russian Present and the Russian Revolution," was published. It was followed in 1926 by "Broken Earth."

Books Well Received.

These books were well received but Hindus really sprang to fame in 1929 with the publication of "Humanity Unproven," which immediately reached the non-fiction best seller list and stayed there for months. He has since published "Red Bread," a study of the forced collectivization of the Russian farms and the extermination of the Kulak class, the more prosperous farmers of the country. This work, published in 1931, was a best seller, as was "The Great Offensive," dealing with the famous Five Year Plan for Russian industry, which appeared in 1933.

Mr. Hindus' books have had an enthusiastic reception in this country because the author turned his attention to the accurate reporting of facts, and especially human facts, and because he was able to resist the tendency to propagandize which has marred the writings of so many travellers to Russia.

For years he has been a well known figure on the American lecture platform, speaking before institutions as varied as the U. S. Naval Academy, Vassar College, the Foreign Policy Association, the Junior League of New York, and the Army War College at Washington.

The Institute program is beginning to attract attention over a wide area. Saturday morning word was received at MacMurray that two professors of Black College are planning to attend and expect to bring a number of students with them from Carlville.

As the college has a greatly increased enrollment this year there will be a good many fewer seats available for the public at the dinner meeting, and the authorities are recommending that those who wish to hear Mr. Hindus send in their reservations early.
